Rhodes Leads GOP Landslide In Ohio

GOV. JAMES A. RHODES told a gathering of press, family and friends that "Ohioans voted for programs into the 1970's" following his landslide victory that swept Republicans to victory all down the line in Ohio. (UPI Telephoto)

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Republicans, led by Gov. James A. Rhodes, staked out the statehouse again for themselves in Tuesday's election and added five new congressional seats for the party, including one for Robert Taft Jr.

Rhodes carried every county except one in running up a 63 per cent majority to top his nearly 59 per cent four years ago, virtually assuring himself a place in the national political spotlight.

Taft, 49-year-old son of "Mr. Republican" and the grandson of a president, trailed first term Democratic Rep. John Gilligan, 45, until the early morning hours. Then his lead crystalized and Taft issued a cautious victory statement, delighted with the outcome after a long and exciting night.

The governor was just as cautious in his victory statement. He reiterated his preference for state politics.

"I have a contract I hope to fulfill," Rhodes said.

His vanquished Democratic opponent, State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., was quick to pledge his party's support to Rhodes by saying it is "eager and willing to help."

All elective statewide office holders won new four-year terms and two state supreme court judges were returned for six years. A short term state auditor post, between certification of the vote and start of regular Statehouse terms Jan. 9, also went to a Republican.

Taft, like his father a former Ohio House member, gave up his congress-at-large post two years ago in a futile attempt to unseat U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, Cleveland Democrat. Since then he has practiced law in Cincinnati.

Taft backers speculated that another defeat might end the family's political line stretching back to president and chief justice William Howard Taft.

Standout GOP congressional victories shattered re - election hopes of Democrats, who won two years ago when President Johnson carried Ohio, and installed Republicans in two new districts created by statewide redistricting.

Of Ohio's 88 counties, Rhodes lost only southern Pike County, long-time Democratic bastion. Four years ago Rhodes lost Pike, Mahoning and Summit counties.

Reams and most Democrats had the benefit of Ohio AFL—CIO endorsement but Rhodes drew support from the Ohio Builders Trades Council and the Teamsters and Railroad Brotherhoods in the state.

Rhodes' Team Sweeps Statehouse Offices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The dust of battle still settling at their feet, Rhodes team members prepared today for another four years in Ohio's top Statehouse offices.

The incumbent defenders, headed by victorious Gov. James A. Rhodes, held early leads to the last in Tuesday night vote counting for a complete shutout of Democratic hopefuls. And among the victors' ranks stood at least two men who might lead the 1968 contests.

The counts, with 9,734 of 13,060 polling places reporting, were: for lieutenant governor, John W. Brown (R) 1,222,751, William L. Coleman (D) 808,272; attorney general, William B. Saxbe (R), 1,142,764, Robert E. Sweeney (D) 905,939; full-term auditor, Roger Cloud (R), 1,134,855, Thomas E. Ferguson (D) 890,414; short-term auditor, Archer Reilly (R) 1,066,678, Clarence Knisley (D) 875,312; secretary of state, Ted W. Brown (R) 1,250,800, James Nolan (D) 769,892, treasurer, John D. Herbert (R) 1,160,920, Eldon Brown (D) 819,156.

The Republican sweep extended into Ohio Supreme Court races, where Republican Judge Louis J. Schneider Jr. amassed 922,754 votes to fend off Clifford Brown with 791,698 and Judge Paul W. Brown rolled by Democrat Joseph Bryan, 1,174,583 to 534,704.

Reilly will be the first Republican to take office, moving in as short-term auditor after vote certifications, probably in early December.

Reilly, 47, has been Franklin County's state representative five times. Knisely, 68, is a former state treasurer.

Taking over from Reilly in January, the 56-year-old Cloud will begin a second term as auditor that is expected to strengthen his position as a possible gubernatorial candidate in 1970. His race this year was considered one of the touchiest, since he faced a member of a well-known political family. Democrat Thomas Ferguson, 37, was trying to regain the office once held by his father.

Saxbe's victory over Democrat Robert Sweeney was his second in as many contests for the attorney general's office. Saxbe, 49, is another member of the Rhodes team being watched for 1970. Sweeney, 40, Ohio's congressman-at-large, lost to Saxbe in 1962.

John Brown, 52, was awarded his fourth term as lieutenant governor, Ohio's second highest office. William Coleman, his Democrat opponent, was Ohio party chairman from 1956 until last year.

Secretary of State Ted Brown, 60, will continue a reign he began 16 years ago. He was the only Republican except the then-auditor Rhodes to survive the 1958 Democratic landslide. Cleveland public relations man James Nolan, his opponent this year, was the man whose law suit led to reapportionment of the Ohio General Assembly.

Republicans regained control of the three-man Board of County Commissioners by winning two seats in Tuesday's general election, according to complete but unofficial returns.

James Boyd, 75-year-old St. Clair Ave. Ext. lumberman, was returned for a second term over Robert Owen, former safety - service director and councilman, and Charles J. Gause of Guilford Lake, president of Gause Equipment, Inc., was named to complete the unexpired term of the late Frank C. Wilson, defeating Lew Sowards of Roller Coaster Rd., near Lisbon, a farmer and cattleman.

Boyd was returned for a four-year term with a margin of 4,468 votes.

Complete returns showed:

Boyd	16,211
Owen	11,743

Gause, a Hanover Township trustee for 12 years, won by a margin of 5,364.

The unofficial totals showed:

Gause	16,660
Sowards	11,296

The lone holdover commissioner is R. Max Gard of near Lisbon, a Democrat. Owen had been named by the Democratic County Committee to serve until yesterday's election in place of Mr. Wilson, who died several months ago.

Gause now will assume the unexpired term as soon as he qualifies. He must await completion of the official canvass of the returns and post the customary bond. The unexpired term runs until Jan. 5, 1969.

In the only other race for a Courthouse job, Auditor Kenneth Bell, Democrat, a Wellsville grocer, won a third term by a margin of 5,501 votes over Ernest A. Lowe, Republican, East Liverpool Council president and an officer in the Mason Color & Chemical Works.

The complete returns showed:

Bell	17,055
Lowe	11,554

Probate and Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin of St. Clair Ave. was named to his third six-year term without opposition. He received 22,432 complimentary votes.

Judge Tobin also was unopposed in the primary, when he was nominated on the Democratic ticket. His name appeared on the nonpartisan judicial ballot in the voting yesterday.

In the full-term commissioner's race, Boyd won 2,632 votes in East Liverpool's 34 precincts to 3,060 for Owen. Sowards received 2,959 votes in the city in the bid for the unexpired term, against 2,577 for Gause.

Voters Reject Schools' Levy By Big Margin

The specter of new curtailment in services hovered over the East Liverpool School District today after voters defeated for the third consecutive time a 3.5-mill operating levy that was designed to produce $180,000 annually.

The levy lost by a margin of 2,815 votes in the 43 precincts that comprise the district.

The complete but unofficial totals showed:

For The Levy	2,438
Against Levy	5,253

The same levy was turned down, 5,206 to 1,906 in the November 1965 general election and was rejected 3,232 to 1,192 last May.

IT LOST overwhelmingly in every ward in yesterday's voting. The First Ward showed 346 in favor of the levy, but 1,016 against. In the Second Ward, 684 voted in favor of the measure, with 1,374 against. The Third Ward showed 330 in favor of the levy, with 645 opposed. In the Fourth Ward, the vote was 458 in favor, with 1,031 against.

The Board of Education had announced eight areas in which curtailed services would be restored if the levy won. It also listed 10 additional cutbacks that would be made if the levy lost.

The board warned in part that defeat of the levy would lead to continued reduction in the number of teachers; elimination of junior high industrial arts, home economics and art programs; elimination of track, baseball, golf, gymnastics, cheerleader supervision and intramural programs and elimination and curtailment of extra-curricular activities, including clubs, yearbook, newspaper and forum.

Perhaps most significantly, the board warned defeat of the levy would mean a cutback in bus transportation, except as required by state law. That

GOP Controls Assembly

Shafer's Elected In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Republicans scored a smashing victory in Pennsylvania Tuesday, electing Raymond P. Shafer as the state's 104th governor and regaining complete control of the 1967 legislature.

The GOP, in a massive outpouring of votes that echoed a similar Republican groundswell across the nation, also captured one congressional seat from the Democrats and appeared to have swept in, with Shafer, their four other statewide candidates.

Two amendments to the state's 92-year constitution passed easily.

About the only major defeats suffered by the Republicans were state Senate seats in York County, to the brother of former Governor George Leader, and in Philadelphia.

Salem Resident Scores Upset Over Loha

A 27-year-old Salem political newcomer scored a surprising victory Tuesday, winning a state senator's post in a race with a Jefferson County veteran, while Rep. Wayne L. Hays, Flushing Democrat, easily captured his 10th term as 18th District congressman by defeating another Salem man.

John Longsworth of Salem, the Republican nominee, apparently eked out a 746-vote victory over Joseph Loha of Yorkville, an attorney, to win in the 30th State Senatorial District, according to complete, but unofficial returns from the five counties.

The combined totals showed:

Longsworth	38,861
Loha	38,115

Rep. Hays won by a margin of almost two-to - one over his Republican challenger, William H. Weir, 57, of Salem.

The combined totals from the eight counties showed:

Hays	70,923
Weir	41,244

Hays now is serving his 18th year in Congress. Weir gave up a Civil Service post as safety director for the Division 11 office of the State Highway Department when he filed for the congressional post.

Longsworth is a graduate of Columbiana High School, Baldwin - Wallace College and Rutgers University. He formerly taught in Steubenville High School, but did not work during the campaign, devoting all his time to the quest for votes.

Loha, 49, is a former Jefferson County prosecuting attorney and also has served as state representative.

Wetzel	16,181
Allen	12,037

Wetzel's margin was 4,144. A salesman, he was graduated from Lisbon High School and attended Mt. Union College in Alliance and Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

W. Va. Re-Elects Randolph, Moore

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia voters re-elected Sen. Jennings Randolph and five U. S. House incumbents, elected Secretary of State Robert D. Bailey to the office he has held by appointment, and turned down five constitutional amendments in the election Tuesday.

Randolph, 64-year-old Elkins Democrat, won his second full term by a decisive margin over Republican nominee Francis J. Love of Wheeling, onetime 1st District congressman. Randolph was first elected to the Senate in 1958 for a short term.

Tabulation of the vote from 2,548 (98 per cent) of the state's 2,608 precincts showed 287,785 for Randolph and 196,606 for Love.

Although statewide voter registration favored the Democrats by more than 308,000, Bailey won by only about 11,000 over GOP nominee John S. Callebs of Huntington for secretary of state. At stake was the two-year unexpired term of the late Joe F. Burdett.

Bailey was the only statehouse figure running in the off - year voting. But the Democratic state administration headed by Gov. Hulett C. Smith met disaster in its all-out effort to put across five amendments to West Virginia's 94-year-old Constitution.

All five were rejected. Margins of defeat were decisive in four instances. Surprisingly, the only amendment that came

Voters Reject Schools' Levy By Big Margin

The specter of new curtailment in services hovered over the East Liverpool School District today after voters defeated for the third consecutive time a 3.5-mill operating levy that was designed to produce $180,000 annually.

The levy lost by a margin of 2,815 votes in the 43 precincts that comprise the district.

The complete but unofficial totals showed:

For The Levy	2,438
Against Levy	5,253

The same levy was turned down, 5,206 to 1,906 in the November 1965 general election and was rejected 3,232 to 1,192 last May.

IT LOST overwhelmingly in every ward in yesterday's voting. The First Ward showed 346 in favor of the levy, but 1,016 against. In the Second Ward, 684 voted in favor of the measure, with 1,374 against. The Third Ward showed 330 in favor of the levy, with 645 opposed. In the Fourth Ward, the vote was 458 in favor, with 1,031 against.

The Board of Education had announced eight areas in which curtailed services would be restored if the levy won. It also listed 10 additional cutbacks that would be made if the levy lost.

The board warned in part that defeat of the levy would lead to continued reduction in the number of teachers; elimination of junior high industrial arts, home economics and art programs; elimination of track, baseball, golf, gymnastics, cheerleader supervision and intramural programs and elimination and curtailment of extra-curricular activities, including clubs, yearbook, newspaper and forum.

Perhaps most significantly, the board warned defeat of the levy would mean a cutback in bus transportation, except as required by state law. That

GOP Controls Assembly

Shafer's Elected In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Republicans scored a smashing victory in Pennsylvania Tuesday, electing Raymond P. Shafer as the state's 104th governor and regaining complete control of the 1967 legislature.

The GOP, in a massive outpouring of votes that echoed a similar Republican groundswell across the nation, also captured one congressional seat from the Democrats and appeared to have swept in, with Shafer, their four other statewide candidates.

Two amendments to the state's 92-year constitution passed easily.

About the only major defeats suffered by the Republicans were state Senate seats in York County, to the brother of former Governor George Leader, and in Philadelphia.

All Amendments Defeated

W. Va. Re-Elects Randolph, Moore

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia voters re-elected Sen. Jennings Randolph and five U. S. House incumbents, elected Secretary of State Robert D. Bailey to the office he has held by appointment, and turned down five constitutional amendments in the election Tuesday.

Randolph, 64-year-old Elkins Democrat, won his second full term by a decisive margin over Republican nominee Francis J. Love of Wheeling, onetime 1st District congressman. Randolph was first elected to the Senate in 1958 for a short term.

Tabulation of the vote from 2,548 (98 per cent) of the state's 2,608 precincts showed 287,785 for Randolph and 196,606 for Love.

Although statewide voter registration favored the Democrats by more than 308,000, Bailey won by only about 11,000 over GOP nominee John S. Callebs of Huntington for secretary of state. At stake was the two-year unexpired term of the late Joe F. Burdett.

Bailey was the only statehouse figure running in the off - year voting. But the Democratic state administration headed by Gov. Hulett C. Smith met disaster in its all-out effort to put across five amendments to West Virginia's 94-year-old Constitution.

All five were rejected. Margins of defeat were decisive in four instances. Surprisingly, the only amendment that came

Nature Is Unconquered

In addition to the tremendous loss of life, the economic impact of the Italian flood disaster is staggering.

The storm struck Nov. 4 but the death and damage toll still is not fully known.

The country, just recovering from a recession, will have to float a government bond issue to meet losses. Such a move would be the first of its kind for the country.

Huge sections of the 36,000 square mile flood area still are without necessities provided by electric power and drinking water.

Thousands of head of livestock are strewn about the country-side and are being destroyed with flamethrowers to prevent disease epidemics.

It is estimated that one half of the agricultural production in the flood sector will be ruined for years.

Officials said the national railway system is in worse shape than it was after World War II.

Damage to bridges and highways will keep traffic jammed for months after the debris is cleared.

American soldiers are working alongside Italian rescue force members in trying to restore some sembalance of order in the chaotic confusion.

They personify the heartfelt sympathy extended to Italy by other Americans.

The clean-up will continue, the dead will be buried and life will return to normal at some future date. That is the way man is. He is capable of rebounding.

Then with a hurricane, tornado, tidal wave, earthquake or another flood, nature will strike again. It is her way of keeping man humble by reminding him of his inadequacies. That is the way nature is. She is unconquered.

Near The Top

The East Liverpool area United Fund campaign is nearing its goal of $125,000.

Officials are confident of going "over the top" if those who have not yet contributed come through with their "fair share."

Sixteen deserving community service organizations are depending on their decision. If the goal is achieved, programs can be continued on their present scale. If not, they could face an unwelcome curtailment.

With the goal so near, all in a position to do so should join in the final push that would permit the "Red Feather" to wave proudly in recognition of community and area achievement.

Watch The Knees And Elbows

Something must be done—and soon—about the knees of football players.

The fate of the most exciting enterprise since professional baseball organized itself into a multi-million-dollar enterprise is hanging in the balance. Football stars are being carted away with bum knees faster than talent scouts can find replacements.

If physiologists could find a way to protect the knees of football players they could find a way to strengthen the throwing arms of baseball pitchers and revive two dying birds with one medical break-through.

The challenge is stern.

Nature never intended that human beings should be gang-tackled by pigskin mammoths and wrestled to the ground.

The knee is not designed for being bent in the wrong direction. Neither is the arm designed to be used like a slingshot hurling pebbles at Goliaths in the batter's box.

Yet, football and baseball are dependent on knees and elbows as never before. They are the make-or-break element in team success.

What can be done?

Selective breeding is the answer. Ivory hunters will have to look for prime stock and match it with prime blood lines until football players with legs like mighty oaks and baseball pitchers with arms like willow wands have been developed. A nation that could develop the Boston Terrier surely could do this.

It will take time, sure it will. All the more reason to get started right away on development of knees able to withstand tackles by behemoths and arms able to throw strikes for nine innings.

Purely Personal

On my morning trips to work I amuse myself sizing up dollies performing cab service for husbands and kids—wondering what they'd look like, with their hair curlers, wrap-arounds, nightgowns and unmade-up faces if they had to disembark.

I add my gratitude to the Bell Telephone TV program for putting well-done commercials at the end, where I can appreciate them and not get mad at the telephone company's rudeness for interrupting its own program.

Now that football is saturating TV on weekends, I wonder how long it will take to saturate viewers' demand for live sports, the way too many ho-hum baseball games did.

I am prepared to back up my personal belief that the highway death toll cannot be reduced without drastic alterations in traffic circumstances, such as some mechanical device that will keep brainless drivers from ramming into other vehicles.

A few years ago someone gave us a few packages of gladioli bulbs. Every year since then, I have been digging up gladioli bulbs each fall, processing them and replanting them in the spring. We now have nearly a bushel.

The slag-heap disaster in Wales makes one wonder how many towns in Pennsylvania and West Virginia could be engulfed if enough rain came down to liquidate their overhanging messes.

One of the few things I have learned is never to argue about religion or politics. You are not going to change anyone else's mind anyway and by refusing to argue you frustrate their efforts to change yours.

I am in favor of issuing revolvers and gun permits to all women who ask for them, until we have cooled off the blood lust of creeps killing females for kicks.

You are older than you like to think you are if you can remember when rainy weather held down the Democratic vote because only Republicans owned "carriages" to take them places; hence, the "carriage vote" and the "carriage trade."

The last hurrah for summer has been uttered at our house when we put glass units into the storm doors and store screen units. After that, if any more warm weather occurs, it's Stifleville for insiders.

The Itchy Finger!

Wives Are Restless

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

No one could have been more surprised over the recent housewives' revolt against food prices in the United States than I was. According to all advertisements in the newspapers, the stores were practically giving the food away, as well as silver dishes, automobiles and free trips to Bermuda. But you don't realize how serious the housewives really are about this until it hits your own home.

Art Buchwald

The other night I arrived from the office and found my children roller skating in the kitchen.

"Where's your mother?" I asked.

I rushed down to the supermarket and, sure enough, there was my wife with several other housewives, chained to pushcats. They were singing "We Shall Overcome."

ANOTHER HUSBAND was yelling at his wife, "I thought you promised me you wouldn't resort to violence."

"That's before I saw what they were charging for Brussels sprouts," his wife replied.

"How could I enjoy the meal when I know what other housewives are paying for onions?"

The manager of the supermarket came up to us with tears in his eyes. "Where did I go wrong? I give them free coffee in the mornings, I cash their checks for them, we have free bingo at lunchtime, horse races in the afternoon, poker games at 6 o'clock, and every evening we raffle off a diamond necklace to anyone who buys a box of detergent. Is this the gratitude I get?"

"What are you doing now?" I said to my wife.

"I'm burning my trading stamp book."

"Please, ladies," the store manager begged. "Be patient. We have a new game. If you can guess how many beans there are in this bowl you can win your own pro football team."

"And how much will that add to the price of the ham hocks?" one of the women wanted to know.

THE STORE MANAGER said, "Wait, before you lose all reason, the first three women who buy four cans of tomato paste will each get a numbered bank account in Switzerland."

"I can't raise my family on numbered bank accounts. Why don't you knock off the price on frankfurters?" a woman said.

"You don't understand," the store manager pleaded. "We don't make money on our food. We make our profit on our contests. I appeal to you husbands. Please ask your wives to go home."

"Don't you touch me! my wife warned. "You're going to have to choose between me and the price of butter."

The store manager was called to the phone. When he came back he shouted excitedly, "We have a new contest! Anyone who picketed our store during the last three days can win a new mink coat by just filling out these cards!"

As my wife unlocked her handcuffs and started filling out a card, she warned the store manager, "This doesn't get you off the hook. If you don't take two cents off the price of peanut butter we'll all be back tomorrow."

What Can Cities Demonstrate?

By Raymond Moley

When President Johnson unfolded his demonstration cities project, a very good idea seemed to be embodied in the proposal. As I understood him, he wanted to provide help for a very few cities of varying size in planning their future development. It was assumed then that as these cities got on with their plans they would serve as models for other cities. That is what "demonstration" means.

There always has been a sort of cross-fertilization of ideas among American cities. Fort Worth, Atlanta, or Fresno will develop a plan, and, as it gets under way, representatives of other cities will come to see it and adapt the plan to their own needs.

The President must have understood that the subsidies demanded for meeting all urban needs were too great to be provided by the federal government. The mayor of Detroit has estimated that $250 billion in federal money would be required during the next 10 years for our cities. This would be beyond any expected revenues from federal taxation.

Other reliable estimates put the figure at somewhere between one and two trillion by 1980. Only a small amount of this could possibly be provided by government.

Most of the money would come from private investment, but in such developments there is need for over-all intelligent planning. Apparently the President felt that the federal government could best coordinate the ideas of architects, planners, developers and the cities themselves.

BUT WHEN HIS bill appeared, it allowed only $12 million for planning, and the rest was a conglomeration of the old kinds of subsidies for housing, transportation and the like.

As the bill took its long way through Congress, it was loaded with amendments. The total amount authorized was reduced, and the amount for planning was raised to $24 million.

There appears in the language of the 100-page bill such expressions as "satisfactory to the secretary" and "if the secretary deems reasonable" and "approved as adequate by the secretary." Thus, grants are made subject to such federal authority.

The demonstration cities project will not satisfy anyone. The mayors of many cities had hoped for dramatic help, and now they are disappointed in the small amounts of subsidies that the bill provides.

The man who will be in charge of this project, H. Ralph Taylor, is already troubled by the impatience not only of city authorities, but of minorities, especially Negroes, who expected so much and now can receive so little.

IN DISTRIBUTING the rather limited funds which are available, Taylor is faced at once with the problem of the slums. Another serious matter is the great demand for school funds and the lack of a consistent plan as to how they will be spent.

Even by Taylor's own reckoning, the first demonstration city project won't be completed for six years. During that time, many critical areas will have even greater populations than they have now.

One critical matter which confronts this project is similar to the one which has so greatly complicated the poverty program. Residents in neighborhoods have been encouraged to believe they will have a hand in the planning. When that happens, nothing but confusion can emerge.

In devising this legislation, the Johnson administration as well as Congress seems to have been unaware of the enormous amount of thinking and planning that has already gone on nationally by private agencies such as developers, experts in city planning, architects and others.

The literature on this subject is enormous, and no one in the federal government seems to have attempted to analyze and sort out from the multiplicity of plans and proposals what might be feasible, what can be supported by the federal government and what must be provided by private investment.

In short, the federal government is offering a billion dollars for what will ultimately be a trillion-dollar undertaking.

We Need A Plan

By David Lawrence

LBJ Surgery Revives A point

Every time a president gets sick or goes to the hospital for an operation, people become worried about what may happen if he were to be incapacitated for any length of time.

The American presidential system in this respect is plainly inadequate. Although warning signals have often been given, nothing has been done to accomplish a satisfactory transition of presidential power, whether it be for one day or week or month or longer.

A consitutional amendment which now is pending and needs ratification by seven more states for adoption deals with situations arising from temporary disability. The plan projects a vice president suddenly into executive power when he really isn't thoroughly familiar with the confidential documents and background relating to all the important problems which will face him immediately.

In contrast, the British and Canadian parliamentary systems take care of any similar emergencies because the cabinet—and not one man—is responsible to the country.

Inside the cabinet, every member is familiar with the day-by-day operations of the government, and an acting prime minister can take over in a few minutes. This maintains public confidence and assures absolute continuity until such time as an election may provide a change of leadership or party.

UNDER THE American system, the vice president has duties that are largely ceremonial or political. He is supposed to preside over the Senate, and does so infrequently.

He may attend cabinet sessions, but under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson these meetings have been held only occasionally.

How can a vice president suddenly assume the duties of a president and acquire overnight an intimate knowledge of every important question on which a decision has to be made?

In a nuclear age, action might have to be taken within minutes or hours, and it is not possible to familiarize anybody with the essentials of crucial matters in such a brief time.

Even apart from the problem of how to handle the transfer of presidential power in case of a long or short illness of the chief executive, a serious and unrsesolved question is whether any one man should ever wield the powers that a president of the United States does today.

If, instead, 10 of the best qualified men in the country within the president's party were chosen for the Cabinet and were not bogged down with administrative duties, the chief executive would have at his side constantly a group of advisers well informed on national and international policies.

It will be argued that a president does have special aides at the White House to whom he delegates much of his work. But they are responsible only to him, not to Congress or the country. They are hand-picked assistants who too often are interjected between the president and the heads of departments.

As population grows and federal budgets run into billions of dollars each year, the United States government—the largest business in the world—can hardly be expected to function effectively under one man.

This is not related solely to sudden illnesses which may incapacitate him but to the increased number of decisions that Congress has been delegating to the chief executive to make.

THE CABINET system abroad is government by a group, rather than by any one individual. The old saying that "two heads are better than one" was never better illustrated than under the cabinet system in vogue now in several countries of the world.

The idea of applying the parliamentary concept, at least in part, in the United States is not new.

Back in 1913, Woodrow Wilson, just before his inauguration as president, addressed a letter to the majority leader of the House of Representatives discussing presidential tenure. He predicted that someday the United States would have to adopt a formula of cabinet responsibility to congress and the country, somewhat like the parliamentary systems abroad.

The need for more attention to this reform is being demonstrated again today.

Nature Is Unconquered

In addition to the tremendous loss of life, the economic impact of the Italian flood disaster is staggering.

The storm struck Nov. 4 but the death and damage toll still is not fully known.

The country, just recovering from a recession, will have to float a government bond issue to meet losses. Such a move would be the first of its kind for the country.

Huge sections of the 36,000 square mile flood area still are without necessities provided by electric power and drinking water.

Thousands of head of livestock are strewn about the country-side and are being destroyed with flamethrowers to prevent disease epidemics.

It is estimated that one half of the agricultural production in the flood sector will be ruined for years.

Officials said the national railway system is in worse shape than it was after World War II.

Damage to bridges and highways will keep traffic jammed for months after the debris is cleared.

American soldiers are working alongside Italian rescue force members in trying to restore some sembalance of order in the chaotic confusion.

They personify the heartfelt sympathy extended to Italy by other Americans.

The clean-up will continue, the dead will be buried and life will return to normal at some future date. That is the way man is. He is capable of rebounding.

Then with a hurricane, tornado, tidal wave, earthquake or another flood, nature will strike again. It is her way of keeping man humble by reminding him of his inadequacies. That is the way nature is. She is unconquered.

Near The Top

The East Liverpool area United Fund campaign is nearing its goal of $125,000.

Officials are confident of going "over the top" if those who have not yet contributed come through with their "fair share."

Sixteen deserving community service organizations are depending on their decision. If the goal is achieved, programs can be continued on their present scale. If not, they could face an unwelcome curtailment.

With the goal so near, all in a position to do so should join in the final push that would permit the "Red Feather" to wave proudly in recognition of community and area achievement.

Watch The Knees And Elbows

Something must be done—and soon—about the knees of football players.

The fate of the most exciting enterprise since professional baseball organized itself into a multi-million-dollar enterprise is hanging in the balance. Football stars are being carted away with bum knees faster than talent scouts can find replacements.

If physiologists could find a way to protect the knees of football players they could find a way to strengthen the throwing arms of baseball pitchers and revive two dying birds with one medical break-through.

The challenge is stern.

Nature never intended that human beings should be gang-tackled by pigskin mammoths and wrestled to the ground.

The knee is not designed for being bent in the wrong direction. Neither is the arm designed to be used like a slingshot hurling pebbles at Goliaths in the batter's box.

Yet, football and baseball are dependent on knees and elbows as never before. They are the make-or-break element in team success.

What can be done?

Selective breeding is the answer. Ivory hunters will have to look for prime stock and match it with prime blood lines until football players with legs like mighty oaks and baseball pitchers with arms like willow wands have been developed. A nation that could develop the Boston Terrier surely could do this.

It will take time, sure it will. All the more reason to get started right away on development of knees able to withstand tackles by behemoths and arms able to throw strikes for nine innings.

The Itchy Finger!

Wives Are Restless

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

No one could have been more surprised over the recent housewives' revolt against food prices in the United States than I was. According to all advertisements in the newspapers, the stores were practically giving the food away, as well as silver dishes, automobiles and free trips to Bermuda. But you don't realize how serious the housewives really are about this until it hits your own home.

Art Buchwald

The other night I arrived from the office and found my children roller skating in the kitchen. "Where's your mother?" I asked.

I rushed down to the supermarket and, sure enough, there was my wife with several other housewives, chained to pushcats. They were singing "We Shall Overcome."

ANOTHER HUSBAND was yelling at his wife, "I thought you promised me you wouldn't resort to violence."

"That's before I saw what they were charging for Brussels sprouts," his wife replied.

"How could I enjoy the meal when I know what other housewives are paying for onions?"

The manager of the supermarket came up to us with tears in his eyes. "Where did I go wrong? I give them free coffee in the mornings, I cash their checks for them, we have free bingo at lunchtime, horse races in the afternoon, poker games at 6 o'clock, and every evening we raffle off a diamond necklace to anyone who buys a box of detergent. Is this the gratitude I get?"

"What are you doing now?" I said to my wife.

"I'm burning my trading stamp book."

"Please, ladies," the store manager begged. "Be patient. We have a new game. If you can guess how many beans there are in this bowl you can win your own pro football team."

"And how much will that add to the price of the ham hocks?" one of the women wanted to know.

THE STORE MANAGER said, "Wait, before you lose all reason, the first three women who buy four cans of tomato paste will each get a numbered bank account in Switzerland."

"I can't raise my family on numbered bank accounts. Why don't you knock off the price on frankfurters?" a woman said.

"You don't understand," the store manager pleaded. "We don't make money on our food. We make our profit on our contests. I appeal to you husbands. Please ask your wives to go home."

"Don't you touch me! my wife warned. "You're going to have to choose between me and the price of butter."

The store manager was called to the phone. When he came back he shouted excitedly, "We have a new contest! Anyone who picketed our store during the last three days can win a new mink coat by just filling out these cards!"

As my wife unlocked her handcuffs and started filling out a card, she warned the store manager, "This doesn't get you off the hook. If you don't take two cents off the price of peanut butter we'll all be back tomorrow."

What Can Cities Demonstrate?

By Raymond Moley

When President Johnson unfolded his demonstration cities project, a very good idea seemed to be embodied in the proposal. As I understood him, he wanted to provide help for a very few cities of varying size in planning their future development. It was assumed then that as these cities got on with their plans they would serve as models for other cities. That is what "demonstration" means.

There always has been a sort of cross-fertilization of ideas among American cities. Fort Worth, Atlanta, or Fresno will develop a plan, and, as it gets under way, representatives of other cities will come to see it and adapt the plan to their own needs.

The President must have understood that the subsidies demanded for meeting all urban needs were too great to be provided by the federal government. The mayor of Detroit has estimated that $250 billion in federal money would be required during the next 10 years for our cities. This would be beyond any expected revenues from federal taxation.

Other reliable estimates put the figure at somewhere between one and two trillion by 1980. Only a small amount of this could possibly be provided by government.

Most of the money would come from private investment, but in such developments there is need for over-all intelligent planning. Apparently the President felt that the federal government could best coordinate the ideas of architects, planners, developers and the cities themselves.

BUT WHEN HIS bill appeared, it allowed only $12 million for planning, and the rest was a conglomeration of the old kinds of subsidies for housing, transportation and the like.

As the bill took its long way through Congress, it was loaded with amendments. The total amount authorized was reduced, and the amount for planning was raised to $24 million.

There appears in the language of the 100-page bill such expressions as "satisfactory to the secretary" and "if the secretary deems reasonable" and "approved as adequate by the secretary." Thus, grants are made subject to such federal authority.

The demonstration cities project will not satisfy anyone. The mayors of many cities had hoped for dramatic help, and now they are disappointed in the small amounts of subsidies that the bill provides.

The man who will be in charge of this project, H. Ralph Taylor, is already troubled by the impatience not only of city authorities, but of minorities, especially Negroes, who expected so much and now can receive so little.

IN DISTRIBUTING the rather limited funds which are available, Taylor is faced at once with the problem of the slums. Another serious matter is the great demand for school funds and the lack of a consistent plan as to how they will be spent.

Even by Taylor's own reckoning, the first demonstration city project won't be completed for six years. During that time, many critical areas will have even greater populations than they have now.

One critical matter which confronts this project is similar to the one which has so greatly complicated the poverty program. Residents in neighborhoods have been encouraged to believe they will have a hand in the planning. When that happens, nothing but confusion can emerge.

In devising this legislation the Johnson administration as well as Congress seems to have been unaware of the enormous amount of thinking and planning that has already gone on nationally by private agencies such as developers, experts in city planning, architects and others.

The literature on this subject is enormous, and no one in the federal government seems to have attempted to analyze and sort out from the multiplicity of plans and proposals what might be feasible, what can be supported by the government and what must be provided by private investment.

In short, the federal government is offering a billion dollars for what will ultimately be a trillion-dollar undertaking.

We Need A Plan

By David Lawrence

LBJ Surgery Revives A point

Every time a president gets sick or goes to the hospital for an operation, people become worried about what may happen if he were to be incapacitated for any length of time.

The American presidential system in this respect is plainly inadequate. Although warning signals have often been given, nothing has been done to accomplish a satisfactory transition of presidential power, whether it be for one day or week or month or longer.

A consitutional amendment which now is pending and needs ratification by seven more states for adoption deals with situations arising from temporary disability. The plan projects a vice president suddenly into executive power when he really isn't thoroughly familiar with the confidential documents and background relating to all the important problems which will face him immediately.

In contrast, the British and Canadian parliamentary systems take care of any similar emergencies because the cabinet—and not one man—is responsible to the country.

Inside the cabinet, every member is familiar with the day-by-day operations of the government, and an acting prime minister can take over in a few minutes. This maintains public confidence and assures absolute continuity until such time as an election may provide a change of leadership or party.

UNDER THE American system, the vice president has duties that are largely ceremonial or political. He is supposed to preside over the Senate, and does so infrequently.

He may attend cabinet sessions, but under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson these meetings have been held only occasionally.

How can a vice president suddenly assume the duties of a president and acquire overnight an intimate knowledge of every important question on which a decision has to be made?

In a nuclear age, action might have to be taken within minutes or hours, and it is not possible to familiarize anybody with the essentials of crucial matters in such a brief time.

Even apart from the problem of how to handle the transfer of presidential power in case of a long or short illness of the chief executive, a serious and unrsesolved question is whether any one man should ever wield the powers that a president of the United States does today.

If, instead, 10 of the best qualified men in the country within the president's party were chosen for the Cabinet and were not bogged down with administrative duties, the chief executive would have at his side constantly a group of advisers well informed on national and international policies.

It will be argued that a president does have special aides at the White House to whom he delegates much of his work. But they are responsible only to him, not to Congress or the country. They are hand-picked assistants who too often are interjected between the president and the heads of departments.

This is not related solely to sudden illnesses which may incapacitate him but to the increased number of decisions that Congress has been delegating to the chief executive to make.

Erhard Agrees To Step Aside

Bonn Politicians Eye 4 For Post Of Chancellor

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German politicians weighed the chances today of four candidates to head their government after Chancellor Ludwig Erhard finally agreed to step aside.

Stung by a sharp parliamentary setback, Erhard said Tuesday night he would support any one of these four nominated by leaders of his Christian Democratic party:

Rainier Barzel, the party's leader in the Bundestag, the lower house; Eugen Gerstenmaier, Bundestag president; Kurt Georg Baden-Wuerttemberg, and Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder.

Christian Democrats in Parliament scheduled a meeting today, but were not expected to take up the leadership issue until Thursday. They may make a choice Thursday or Friday, but there was also a possibility the decision might be put off until after the state election in Bavaria Nov. 20.

Because the Christian Democrats do not have a majority in the Bundestag, the party's choice will also have to get the support of the Free Democrats or the Socialists to supplant Erhard.

Erhard, 69, agreed to head a three-member commission to negotiate with the other two parties.

Erhard's coalition government fell apart Oct. 27 when the Free Democrats refused to go along with increased taxes to meet West Germany's obligation to buy U.S. arms to offset the cost of keeping U.S. troops in Germany.

Erhard's decision to step aside was announced Tuesday a few hours after Free Democrats and Socialists pushed a resolution through the Bundestag urging Erhard to ask for a vote of confidence — a vote he seemed sure to lose.

Crash Damages Cars, Chester Police Report

A station wagon driven by William McKnight, 17, of Knowles Ln., Chester, struck the rear of a 1965 sedan operated by Mary Elizabeth Lyons, 38, of Chester R.D. 1, about 3 p.m. Tuesday, on Route 30 adjacent to Rock Springs Park, Chester Police Chief Audley Campbell reported.

The mishap occurred as the woman motorist prepared to make a left turn up the Lawrenceville hill, according to Campbell. He estimated combined damages of $450.

Ohio Voters Okay Most Of Local Issues

By The Associated Press

Ohio voters generally were generous with the pursestrings in Tuesday's election, approving a great majority of 1,327 local issues, 1,017 of them involving money.

In perhaps the most publicized—and possibly precedent-setting—issue, Toledo voters boosted their city income tax from one to one-and-a-half per cent.

The tax boost figured in a strike by city employes last summer and a pay dispute involving police and firemen.

Its passage guarantees that money will be available for major raises promised by city council in agreed settlements.

In Cleveland, the largest school money question ever put to voters there — a $66 million bond issue for capital improvements—won better than two-to-one approval, and more than half of the city's ambitious $55 million community improvement bond package appears to have passed.

Defeated were proposals for port development, waste disposal, parks and recreation and freeway improvements..

Cincinnati area voters, early returns showed were rejecting a one mill levy for Hamilton County operating expenses and a one mill levy for library expansion.

Group Holds Fete Tonight

Final plans for a pancake and sausage supper tonight at St. Ann Catholic Church hall in East End were completed during a meeting of Fr. Thome Council 5885, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday night at the church hall. John F. Ferlaino, grand knight, presided.

The serving will begin at 6, with Vince Ferlaino, council activities chairman, in charge.

Under the six - point program, Frank Arcuri reported on the recent third - degree exemplification and also on the local progress of the statewide youth campaign.

William E. Gill, fraternal activity chairman, reported that he has set up for the council a blood donor program with City Hospital and that to date 60 per cent have signed. He urged other members to participate.

Fr. William Hohman, council chaplain, spoke briefly and urged members to offer their prayers for deceased members and also stressed family rosary. Fr. Hohman opened and closed the meeting with prayer.

Shafer

191,000-vote victory over Democrat Milton J. Shapp.

With 8,451 precincts of 9,424 reported, Shafer led Shapp 1,889,468 to 1,659,796.

"This, of course, is the proudest thing in my life," Shafer told cheering partisans at his Pittsburgh headquarters. "Now the job begins to build a commonwealth of excellence."

Shapp, at 54 a retired Philadelphia businessman who said he spent $1.4 million from his personal fortune to win the primary, told his followers that though a loser he believes he has "made an impact on Pennsylvania thinking that will last."

Shafer next January succeeds Gov. William W. Scranton. Under state law, Scranton couldn't run for a second term to succeed himself.

What was the key to Shafer's victory in the long and bitter campaign? The governor - elect said:

"I think that the people of Pennsylvania were determined that we were going to move forward and build on the foundation that we worked so hard to build the past four years."

The chairmen of Pennsylvania's two major political parties both surveyed the results and concluded that national disenchantment with the Democratic Johnson administration contributed to Republican votes.

"It is part of a national trend that doesn't really represent a real dialogue on state issues," said Democratic Chairman Thomas Z. Minehart.

Whatever it was, Shafer won big—though not half as big as Scranton did four years ago. He won 53 of the 67 counties, while Scranton lost only four.

But Shafer managed one plus that Scranton, even with a 486,000 majority, couldn't achieve. He led his full ticket to apparent victory, toppling Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt who had survived the 1962 Scranton landslide.

Miss Blatt, seeking an unprecedented fourth term as Pennsylvania's only woman statewide office-holder, lost a close race to John Tabor, secretary of commerce in the Scranton cabinet.

Also apparently rolling in on the Shafer tide were Raymond Broderick as lieutenant governor and two incumbent judges of the state Superior Court, Harold Watkins and Theodore Spaulding.

Spaulding, a Philadelphian appointed to the state's second highest court last spring, is the first Negro ever elected to a statewide office in Pennsylvania.

One Democratic candidate also was a Negro, Philadelphia municipal Judge Juanita Kidd Stout. The other Democrat is Clinton Budd Palmer of Northampton County.

Broderick was opposed by Leonard Staisey, a blind state senator from Allegheny County.

Superior court: 8,435 precincts, Watkins 1,738,436, Spaulding 1,680,798, Palmer 1,646,039, Stout 1,601,866.

Voters sent the first Negro to the state senate. He is Herbert Arlene, a 49-year-old Philadelphian who had served four terms in the state house before making a bid for the upper chamber. Arlene had ousted Democratic incumbent Louis J. Johanson in the primary then defeated Republican Henry H. Nimmons.

Republicans had controlled the state Senate 28-19 with three vacancies before the election.

They lost three seats—one in York County, one in Luzerne and the other in Philadelphia—but gained one in Lackawanna. And they also picked up three House seats in Lackawanna, normally Democratic territory.

Democrat Henry Leader brother of the former governor, defeated incumbent Robert O. Bears in York County. In Philadelphia, Democrat Louis G. Hill the son-in-law of former mayor Richardson Dilworth who ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1962 against Scranton, upset Republican incumbent William J. McLaughlin III. In Luzerne, Democrat Martin L. Murray defeated Republican Victor Diehm It had been previously in GOP control.

But the GOP won in Lackawanna. Here Arthur A. Piasecki won the seat now held by Democrat Robert P. Casey, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Ex-Gov. Lawrence Still Clings To Life

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Former Gov. David L. Lawrence clung to life at Presbyterian-University Hospital, but his physician said the end was just a matter of time.

Dr. Campbell Moses said Lawrence, 77, took a decided turn for the worse Tuesday and added that he was "going the course now of a person who has hit his terminal stage."

Lawrence was stricken by a heart attack Friday night while speaking at a Democratic rally.

The Rochester Red Wings won the International League pennant on the final day of the baseball season.

Mental Health Levy Passed By 694 Votes

A two - tenth mill levy that will provide $48,000 a year to expand the service of the County Mental Health Clinic at Lisbon was approved by 694 votes in its second test at the polls Tuesday, according to complete but unofficial returns.

Returns showed this tabulation:

For the Levy	14,502
Against Levy	13,808

Requiring a bare majority for approval, the levy will be in effect for five years. The mental health service now is operated on a one - tenth mill levy which provides $24,000 a year. It is due to expire in 1967.

The mental health levy had been turned down at the primaries in May, losing by a margin of 1,041.

close to passing was one that would have made it easier for counties to vote property tax increases for schools. The school amendment lost by less than 8,000 out of about 411,000 votes cast on this issue.

Most resoundingly beaten amendments were a legislative pay increase, which drew a 72-per-cent negative vote, and a proposal to let a governor serve two successive terms, which 64 per cent of the voters found objectionable.

Smith would have been eligible to run for a second term in 1968 if the succession amendment had passed. However, he had not publicly committed himself beyond saying he would consider running again if the amendment were ratified.

Its defeat thrusts Smith's predecessor, ex-Gov. W. W. Barron, and Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson to the forefront as possible Democratic gubernatorial contenders in the '68 primary.

The congressional district races went as expected, returning the present lineup of four Democrats and one Republican to the U. S. House for another two years.

Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr., the only Republican incumbent, beat lawyer William M. Kidd of Sutton to win a sixth term from the upstate 1st District.

The four Democratic incumbent victors were Rep. Harley O. Staggers in the 2nd District; Rep. John M. Slack Jr. in the 3rd; Rep. Ken Hechler in the 4th and Rep. James Kee in the 5th.

Staggers won a 10th straight term against a surprisingly strong challenge by GOP nominee George L. Strader, 69-year-old Buckhannon department store owner. Staggers' margin with the vote counted from 487 of 518 precincts in the 2nd District was 48,462 to 33,671.

Slack was re-elected for a fifth term, defeating Charleston businessman Mal Guthrie. Hechler also won a fifth term, beating Huntington drug store owner Harry D. (Pinkie) Humphreys.

School Levy Beaten, Cemetery Plan OK'd

The Wellsville School District Tuesday rejected a proposed new 4-mill operating levy, but the municipality approved by a narrow margin a 1-mill tax for maintenance of Springhill Cemetery.

Complete but unofficial returns from the general election showed these totals for the school levy:

For The Levy	847
Against Levy	1,048

Since the measure required a bare majority for passage, the margin of defeat was 201 votes.

Three mills of the levy was to have been used for raising teachers' salaries. The additional mill was to have been earmarked for general operating expenses and maintenance.

The cemetery levy squeezed through with only five votes to spare. The complete, unofficial totals showed:

For The Levy	802
Against Levy	797

his wrist as he pointed the .22-caliber pistol at his head after she told him she didn't care about him or their 2-year-old son.

The defendant shook with sobs as the judge polled the jury at the request of G. William Brokaw, court appointed defense counsel along with Donald D. Shay. The jurors individually affirmed the verdict.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and James D. Primm Jr., assistant, left the courtroom as soon as the judge discharged the jury and indicated he would sentence Copestick some other time.

Judge Buzzard told the jurors he knew how hard their duty was and commended them for their service.

THE VERDICT came at 3:30 after three hours 40 minutes deliberation. An indication of the jury's thinking came at 2:45 when the members gave the court three written questions.

They wanted to know if their understanding of the five elements of the first - degree murder charge was correct, and if mercy were recommended could the defendant ever get out of prison. They also asked the judge to define "premeditation" again.

Judge Buzzard told the jurors they had no concern with what might happen to the defendant if they recommended mercy. "The law takes over at that point."

Brokaw and Shay tried to comfort the defendant, but he was still shaking convulsively 15 minutes later as Sheriff Deputies James Gause and Howard Gray returned him to the County Jail.

The defendant broke away from the deputies momentarily on the Courthouse steps to charge a newsman who took his picture outside the front entrance. The officers grabbed Copestick before he reached Bill Bierman, reporter for the Lisbon Journal and Youngstown Vindicator.

Except for two brief periods of weeping, the thin defendant, haggard and sallow after months in jail, sat impassively through the trial which began Oct. 31.

His mother and sisters were among spectators when the jury returned.

Sentencing was delayed to permit the defense counsel to file a motion for a new trial.

Brokaw said today he will file such a motion.

Shafer

191,000-vote victory over Democrat Milton J. Shapp.

With 8,451 precincts of 9,424 reported, Shafer led Shapp 1,889,468 to 1,659,796.

"This, of course, is the proudest thing in my life," Shafer told cheering partisans at his Pittsburgh headquarters. "Now the job begins to build a commonwealth of excellence."

Shapp, at 54 a retired Philadelphia businessman who said he spent $1.4 million from his personal fortune to win the primary, told his followers that though a loser he believes he has "made an impact on Pennsylvania thinking that will last."

Shafer next January succeeds Gov. William W. Scranton. Under state law, Scranton couldn't run for a second term to succeed himself.

What was the key to Shafer's victory in the long and bitter campaign? The governor - elect said:

his wrist as he pointed the .22-caliber pistol at his head after she told him she didn't care about him or their 2-year-old son.

The defendant shook with sobs as the judge polled the jury at the request of G. William Brokaw, court appointed defense counsel along with Donald D. Shay. The jurors individually affirmed the verdict.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and James D. Primm Jr., assistant, left the courtroom as soon as the judge discharged the jury and indicated he would sentence Copestick some other time.

Judge Buzzard told the jurors he knew how hard their duty was and commended them for their service.

THE VERDICT came at 3:30 after three hours 40 minutes deliberation. An indication of the jury's thinking came at 2:45 when the members gave the court three written questions.

They wanted to know if their understanding of the five elements of the first - degree murder charge was correct, and if mercy were recommended could the defendant ever get out of prison. They also asked the judge to define "premeditation" again.

Judge Buzzard told the jurors they had no concern with what might happen to the defendant if they recommended mercy. "The law takes over at that point."

Brokaw and Shay tried to comfort the defendant, but he was still shaking convulsively 15 minutes later as Sheriff Deputies James Gause and Howard Gray returned him to the County Jail.

The defendant broke away from the deputies momentarily on the Courthouse steps to charge a newsman who took his picture outside the front entrance. The officers grabbed Copestick before he reached Bill Bierman, reporter for the Lisbon Journal and Youngstown Vindicator.

Except for two brief periods of weeping, the thin defendant, haggard and sallow after months in jail, sat impassively through the trial which began Oct. 31.

His mother and sisters were among spectators when the jury returned.

Sentencing was delayed to permit the defense counsel to file a motion for a new trial.

Brokaw said today he will file such a motion.

Athletic Directors Steve Sebo of Virginia, Dan Devine of Missouri and Forest Evashevski of Iowa were former assistant football coaches to Biggie Munn at Michigan State.

Flight Plans Restudied

Gemini 12 Now Slated For Blastoff Thursday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Grounded 24 hours by a faulty rocket part, the Gemini astronauts today took advantage of their extra day on earth to further study their flight plan, which has been stripped of a glamorous scientific experiment.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. now are set to take off Thursday atop a Titan 2 rocket at 3:55 p.m. EST, 99 minutes after an Atlas rocket has boosted an Agena satellite into orbit as a rendezvous traget for Gemini 12.

The postponement means that the astronauts will be unable to photograph an eclipse of the sun on Saturday. The original launch time had been calculated so that Gemini 12 would be in position high over South America for man to obtain his first look at a total eclipse from space.

Aldrin had planned to open his hatch to obtain clear pictures of the phenomena. But now Gemini 12 will be too far away at the time of the eclipse.

Any chance of a launch today was wiped out when a power failure developed Tuesday in a system which feeds electricity to the Titan 2 secondary flight-control system.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the difficulty was associated either with a gyroscope or an automatic pilot. Both parts were replaced.

The trouble later was traced to a short circuit in the gyroscope package.

Gemini 12 will close out America's Gemini series and will open the way for the Apollo man-to-the-moon project. The first earth orbit flight of a three-man Apollo ship is scheduled early next year, hopefully leading to a manned lunar landing in 1968.

The four-day flight is to end Monday afternoon with a landing in the Atlantic.

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Wilson Baker, a veteran law enforcement officer who disagreed with the mass arrest of Negroes in Selma during the Civil Rights struggle in 1965, has finally won his race for sheriff.

Baker defeated the present sheriff, James G. Clark, in Tuesday's election despite a write-in campaign which brought Clark thousands of votes. Returns from the county's 81 boxes gave Baker 7,249 votes and Clark 6,742.

The former Selma City safety director who took issue publicly with Clark's mass arrest policy had won the Democratic nomination for sheriff last May after a federal judge intervened.

The levy was designed to be in effect 10 years. Over its life, it would have produced about $1.8 million for the school system.

In addition to the 34 city precincts, the school district is comprised of all of Liverpool Township and the Glenmoor, Southwest and West Precincts of St. Clair Township.

Winner Paul Brown was successful in an identical attempt that year. He was 7th District Appellate Court judge before being named to the supreme court.

Southern Local District Beats Levy Second Time

SALINEVILLE — A proposed new 4.5-mill school operating levy was defeated by Southern Local School District voters Tuesday for the second time this year, according to complete but unofficial returns.

The vote was:

For	532
Against	889

The five - year measure had been proposed by the board of education to provide some $40,000 annually for building repairs and for salary adjustments.

The levy was turned down, 635 to 297, in the May primary election when a renewal of a 4.4-mill levy was approved 503 to 447.

A special incentive to obtain funds for repairs was given the board by a recent directive from the Ohio fire marshal's office at Columbus concerning the Franklin School at Summitville.

Improvement of the heating system at the cafeteria, provision for a fire escape and other items were ordered or the building is to be closed Nov. 21.

Q. — Have you any suggestions to offer on the installation of new glass panes in metal casement windows?

A. — Be sure to leave at least a ⅛-inch clearance on all sides of the pane — otherwise you'll be inviting cracked glass during cold weather. Steel frames contract with low temperatures, and if the glass fits perfectly tight, the frames will squeeze and crack it.

Salem's School Levy Wins By Big Margin

Quota Club Begins Plans For Revision Of Bylaws

Plans to revise the bylaws to comply with the recent revision of international were discussed during the luncheon meeting of the Quota Club Tuesday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

They concern the provisions on membership and officers. Mrs. Laura Reinacher, president, named Miss Mildred McGregor, parliamentarian, Miss Luella Thompson and Mrs. Dorothy Horsley to the committee to report by January.

The club voted a contribution of $100 to an educational fund to enable a nurse at City Hospital to further her career by obtaining a bachelor of science degree in nursing. The recommendation was made by Dr. Edith Gilmore.

Mrs. Margaret Locke requested that all ballots for prospective members be turned in as soon as possible.

Mrs. Reinacher discussed absenteeism at business sessions and also discussed the required number of delegates necessary for the international conference and district sessions.

In a communication from the 6th District, the group was advised that scrapbook awards will be presented at the next fall conference. Mrs. Greta Barrow will be chairman.

In other correspondence, Mrs. Juanita Clendenning read a letter concerning the restrictions which comply to the use of the club "Collect."

Mrs. Marie Hays, a member of the ways and means committee, announced she has the fruit cakes and pecans which the club sells annually.

A leave of absence was granted Mrs. Lucille Singer, who will be out of town for five months.

Mrs. Peggy Mangano was introduced as a new member.

Monoxide Poisoning Ruled In Deaths Of 2

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Coroner David Belinky has ruled carbon monoxide poisoning in the deaths of a Youngstown couple whose bodies were found in a parked car Monday at Hamilton Lake near Struthers.

The victims were identified as Robert Daley, 21, and Miss Sherry Melnick, 17.

Peace Corps Ordered Out Of Guinea

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — President Sekou Toure has ordered the U.S. Peace Corps and Pan American World Airways out of Guinea in retaliation for Ghana's seizure of a Guinean delegation from a Pan American plane.

Toure's announcement, broadcast Tuesday by Radio Conakry, took State Department officials in Washington by surprise. The day before, the department reported that harassment of Americans in the Guinea capital had ceased.

Radio Conakry said the Peace Corps personnel had to get out within a week, Pan Americans landing rights were being revoked, and the airline's office in Conakry was being closed.

Ghanaian officials removed 19 Guineans, including the foreign minister, from a Pan American plane Oct. 29 when the plane stopped in Accra en route to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, for a presummit conference of the Organization of African Unity. Toure accused the United States of complicity because the airline is American.

Anti-American demonstrations broke out in Conakry and the U.S. ambassador to Guinea Robinson McIlvaine, was confined to the embassy for 24 hours.

New Classes Will Begin In Adult Education Plan

Classes are to begin next week in the adult basic education program for the East Liverpool - Wellsville school districts, the latest federal project in the area.

The course also will include consumer buying, job welfare, homemaking and citizenship responsibilities.

Anyone 18 or older can enroll for the classes at East Junior High on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 7 to 9 p. m. through June 9. The usual school holidays will be observed.

Interested persons are urged to enroll immediately by writing to the Director, Adult Basic Education, High School Building, East Liverpool. They also may enroll on the opening night. The name, address, telephone and last year of school completed should be included in the enrollment request.

Tony LaNeve, director, said all materials and textbooks will be furnished. No tuition is charged.

Three teaching levels will be offered, with guidance and counseling services will be available.

Instructors will include Miss Elizabeth Coleman, Lester Hickman, Miss Mildred McGregor, Robert Lorah and Mrs. Rosalie Spencer. Robert McNamar is the counselor.

About sixty-five per cent have visual troubles. Few people over forty have perfect vision It is wise to have an eye examination about every two years. When medication is indicated we can fill any prescription. After using any eye preparation it is important the container be immediately closed to prevent dangerous contamination.

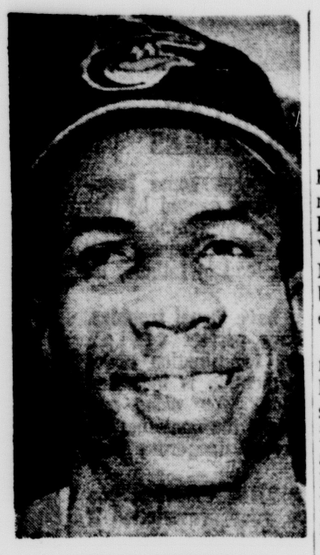
Potters Seeking First Win Over Alliance Since '56 Season

Robinson (Who Else?) Voted MVP



FRANK ROBINSON
He's Tops In American Loop.

1st To Win In Both Loops

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles, the American League's newly crowned Most Valuable Player, said today the National League has more stars because it has more Negro players.

"I don't think there's that much differance in the leagues," Robinson said. "The superiority the National League is supposed to have is exaggerated. But there are more front-line outstanding players in the National League than the American League.

There are more Negroes in the National League and therefore more outstanding ones," he went on. "That's not all of it. But that definitely has something to do with it."

Robinson's frank appraisal came after he had been unanimously voted the MVP award, becoming the first player in baseball history to win the coveted award in both leagues and the second Negro in American League annals.

Elston Howard of the New York Yankees became the first Negro to win it in the American League in 1963. In the National League, which broke the color line when Jackie Robinson joined the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947, eight Negroes have won the award 12 times in the last 19 years.

Robinson joined such other Negro stars as Willie Mays, Hank Aaron and Roy Campanella in winning the National League award when he was with Cincinnati in 1961.

"The first one usually is the biggest thrill," Robinson said. "But this award is even bigger than the first one because I've become the first to do it in both leagues. That's something that will be remembered."

The other things to be remembered are:

—Robinson led a 1-2-3 Baltimore sweep in the balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America, drawing all 20 first-place votes for 280 points to 153 for third baseman Brooks Robinson and 122 for first baseman Boog Powell.

—Robinson became the first unanimous winner in a decade, just as he became the first Triple Crown winner in 10 years, and only the third unanimous winner in the 35-year history of the voting.

Acquired from Cincinnati in December, Robinson led the league in all three major hitting departments with a .316 average, 49 homers and 122 runs batted in.

It was the first time that had been done since Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees did it in 1956. Mantle won the MVP award unanimously that year as did Al Rosen of Cleveland in 1953.

Tigers, Beavers Eye Title

Plenty of football is still in store for district fans as the final weekend of the local high school season approaches.

Friday's five game schedule is headlined by the annual East Liverpool - Alliance tussle while top billing Saturday must go to the Wellsville - Beaver Local battle at Nicholson Stadium where the two backyard rivals will be fighting for the Buckeye Border Conference championship.

East Liverpool came close last year than at anytime in the past nine games but lost by the margin of a two - point conversion, 28-26.

The Potters ranked eleventh in the state, will be gunning for their eighth straight victory and ninth in ten games. Alliance invades Patterson Field assured of a losing season with three victories in nine starts but the Aviators have met the best in the state.

Another important contest on the final week of the season will be played at Stanton Local Friday night where the eighth ranked Red Raiders will be shooting for the first undefeated season in the school's history against a dangerous Smithfield team.

—:—

STANTON has rolled to eight straight victories including an important 14-6 decision of Jefferson Union last week. Smithfield has lost only one game and has tied one while winning seven.

Southern concludes its best season in several years at Toronto. The Indians will carry a 3-5-1 into Friday's game.

In addition to the Beaver Local - Wellsville game Saturday, Midland under its freshman coach Joe Hamilton will attempt to gain a 9-1 season at Monaca. A 9-1 mark would give the Leopards one of their best season's marks in over a decade.

Hayes To Speak At Beaver Local

Ohio State University football coach Woody Hayes will be speaker for the annual Beaver Local High School football banquet Nov. 29 at the high school near Williamsport.

Plans for the event were furthered at a meeting of the Beaver Local Booster Club Tuesday night at the school.

Hayes has been head coach at Ohio State for the past 15 years and his record has been 100 wins, 36 losses and seven ties during this period.

His Buckeye football teams have won four undisputed Big Ten titles and two national championships. Currently Ohio State is 3-3 on the season.

Hayes started his coaching career at New Philadelphia, Ohio, moved to his first college coaching job at Denison then to Miami before moving to Ohio State.

The club will provide baked steak, beverages and rolls for the coverdish event headed by Mrs. Peggy Downard, general chairman.

Free tickets will be given parents and club members who provide a coverdish for the 6:30 event. Slips on which parents will denote the dish they will provide and the number expected to attend will be taken home by students.

Anyone not attending the dinner may hear Hayes speak by coming to the school after the meal.

Michael Klembara, president, appointed an awards committee consisting of Kenneth Eells, chairman, Mrs. Peg Burcham, Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, Richard McCoy and Don Ross, coach. The committee will meet Tuesday night at 7 at the school.

A pep rally and wiener roast will be held Friday night at 7 at the school, followed by a car caravan.

The next meeting will be Nov. 22 when tickets to the dinner will be issued.

Minnesota, Purdue Duel For Bowl Nod

CHICAGO (AP) — Before the Big Ten football season began, Michigan State was expected to win a second straight conference championship and Purdue was favored to make its first Rose Bowl trip.

As the campaign progressed there was nothing to dispute these selections. Michigan State clinched a title tie last week and needs only a victory over Indiana to wrap up the championship.

Purdue was sailing along in fine fashion but suddenly the Boilermakers are up against unexpected opposition in Minnesota, a team which has rebounded magnificently following a 7-7 tie with Indiana and a 49-0 loss to Michigan.

The two teams will battle at Minneapolis Saturday and the winner undoubtedly will go on to represent the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl.

Dallas Leads In Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — There are days when you just can't believe the statistical tables as the Dallas Cowboys know. Tom Landry's Texans are first in both total offense and defense in the National Football League but second in the all-important won and lost figures.

The Cowboys had led the league in offense going into last Sunday's game at Philadelphia, but they were second in defense. They held the Eagles to a total of 80 yards and assumed the statistical lead but lost the ball game 24-23.

Dallas is first in total offense, pass offense, total defense and running defense. The Cowboys also lead the league in scoring with 289 points.

Green Bay has smeared the would-be passer 33 times for 264 yards, and St. Louis has creamed the quarterback 30 times for 269 yards.

As might be expected, Baltimore has given its passer the best protection. The Colts opposition has been able to get John Unitas and Co. only 12 times for 76 yards. The Chicago Bears' passer has been had only 12 times, also, but for 100 yards.

Houston Takes Over Offensive Lead From Irish

NEW YORK (AP) — Houston has replaced Notre Dame as the major college football leader in total offense, the latest figures compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today.

The Cougars increased their total yardage to 2,824 for a seven-game average of 403.4 yards while trampling Tulsa 73-14 last Saturday. Notre Dame is second with a 401.4 average followed by UCLA with 392.4.

The Irish took the lead in scoring with a 33.9 points a game average although Houston's output enabled it to move from 11th place to second with a 33.1 mark. Texas Western is third with 33.0.

Harvard remained the pacesetter in rushing for the sixth straight week. The Crimson was averaging 284.9 yards on the ground. Texas Western took over first place in passing average with 270.7. Tulsa, the leader a week ago, slipped to second with 267.3.

Wilt Shines On Defense To Lead Win

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia strongman blocked twice as many shots as he made Tuesday night while leading the 76ers past Detroit 118-100 in the opener of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at New York.

In the nightcap, Bill Bridges and rookie Lou Hudson sparked the St. Louis Hawks to a 135-121 victory over the Knickerbockers.

Chamberlain scored 18 points, three below his surprisingly low early-season average, but was in complete charge as the 76ers rolled to their eighth victory in nine games and remained tied for first place with Boston in the NBA's Eastern Division race.

Chamberlain hit on eight of 13 field goal attempts, blocked 17 shots, grabbed 24 rebounds and had four assists in the 76ers' victory.

Plans To Begin For Super Bowl

NEW YORK (AP) — A joint committee of the American and National Football Leagues went into a closed-door session today to work out details of their merger — particularly the Super Bowl and a common draft.

President Johnson signed into law a bill giving the merger limited immunity from antitrust laws Tuesday.

Under the merger plans, the leagues will play a Super Bowl game in January pitting the AFL champions against the NFL champions. The leagues also will hold a common player draft and will plan a schedule for inter-league, preseason games next year.

NBA Eyes Cleveland For Newest Franchise

CLEVELAND (AP)— Cleveland has the inside track for one of two new National Basketball Association franchises to be awarded for the start of the 1968-69 season, NBA President Walter Kennedy said here Tuesday.

"We are very interested in Cleveland," Kennedy said at a promotion kickoff for a nine-game NBA schedule the Cincinnati Royals will play this year at the Cleveland Arena.

"We feel you have basketball interest and you have an adequate arena and enough financial interest," Kennedy said.

The 10-member league will increase to 12 teams by 1968, then expanded to 16 teams by the start of the 1972-73 season, Kennedy said.

Besides Cleveland, other cities being considered for new franchises are Seattle, San Diego, Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Houston and Dallas.

Extra Day Of Rest Would Have Helped LA In Series

TOKYO (AP) — Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers — carefully avoiding any alibis — said today "one more day of rest between the close of the regular season and the start of the World Series would assure fans of seeing good baseball."

Normally the U.S. baseball season ends on a Sunday and the Series starts the following Wednesday. The Dodgers, here for an exhibition tour of Japan, clinched the National League flag on a Sunday, using their ace pitcher, Sandy Koufax. Then they started the Series against the Baltimore Orioles with Don Drysdale on the mound because Koufax had insufficient rest.

To the amazement of the baseball world the Orioles won the Series in four straight.

"Three days would be ample time to get your pitching staff in shape but even with one day we would have had ample time. The team that wins with a game to spare has the privilege of arranging its staff. If you battle down to the wire you forfeit that advantage.

"It speaks well for the league if you have to go down to the wire — but believe me that extra day would help.

"I was prepared to open the Series with Koufax but of course I couldn't.

"As it was we found all the different ways to lose," Alston continued. "We lost the first game because we didn't get good pitching and the second because of miscues (Koufax pitching) and the last two because we couldn't hit a lick.

"You know, it was a little bit like playing a hard series of games during the regular season, like with the San Francisco Giants. You don't have to give the team any pep talks for that kind of baseball. So you go in and win three out of four games.

"I thought we would make a better showing in the Series than we did. Even after we lost the first two games I thought, well, this was the way we did it the year before — but it didn't happen that way."

The Baltimore Orioles really picked on the last place New York Yankees in 1966. The Birds won 15 of 18 games played. It was the most one - sided series in both leagues.

Potters Seeking First Win Over Alliance Since '56 Season

FRANK ROBINSON
He's Tops In American Loop.

1st To Win In Both Loops

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles, the American League's newly crowned Most Valuable Player, said today the National League has more stars because it has more Negro players.

"I don't think there's that much differance in the leagues," Robinson said. "The superiority the National League is supposed to have is exaggerated. But there are more front-line outstanding players in the National League than the American League.

There are more Negroes in the National League and therefore more outstanding ones," he went on. "That's not all of it. But that definitely has something to do with it."

Robinson's frank appraisal came after he had been unanimously voted the MVP award, becoming the first player in baseball history to win the coveted award in both leagues and the second Negro in American League annals.

Elston Howard of the New York Yankees became the first Negro to win it in the American League in 1963. In the National League, which broke the color line when Jackie Robinson joined the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947, eight Negroes have won the award 12 times in the last 19 years.

Robinson joined such other Negro stars as Willie Mays, Hank Aaron and Roy Campanella in winning the National League award when he was with Cincinnati in 1961.

"The first one usually is the biggest thrill," Robinson said. "But this award is even bigger than the first one because I've become the first to do it in both leagues. That's something that will be remembered."

The other things to be remembered are:

—Robinson led a 1-2-3 Baltimore sweep in the balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America, drawing all 20 first-place votes for 280 points to 153 for third baseman Brooks Robinson and 122 for first baseman Boog Powell.

—Robinson became the first unanimous winner in a decade, just as he became the first Triple Crown winner in 10 years, and only the third unanimous winner in the 35-year history of the voting.

Acquired from Cincinnati in December, Robinson led the league in all three major hitting departments with a .316 average, 49 homers and 122 runs batted in.

It was the first time that had been done since Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees did it in 1956. Mantle won the MVP award unanimously that year as did Al Rosen of Cleveland in 1953.

Tigers, Beavers Eye Title

Plenty of football is still in store for district fans as the final weekend of the local high school season approaches.

Friday's five game schedule is headlined by the annual East Liverpool - Alliance tussle while top billing Saturday must go to the Wellsville - Beaver Local battle at Nicholson Stadium where the two backyard rivals will be fighting for the Buckeye Border Conference championship.

East Liverpool came close last year than at anytime in the past nine games but lost by the margin of a two - point conversion, 28-26.

The Potters ranked eleventh in the state, will be gunning for their eighth straight victory and ninth in ten games. Alliance invades Patterson Field assured of a losing season with three victories in nine starts but the Aviators have met the best in the state.

Another important contest on the final week of the season will be played at Stanton Local Friday night where the eighth ranked Red Raiders will be shooting for the first undefeated season in the school's history against a dangerous Smithfield team.

STANTON has rolled to eight straight victories including an important 14-6 decision of Jefferson Union last week. Smithfield has lost only one game and has tied one while winning seven.

Southern concludes its best season in several years at Toronto. The Indians will carry a 3-5-1 into Friday's game.

In addition to the Beaver Local - Wellsville game Saturday, Midland under its freshman coach Joe Hamilton will attempt to gain a 9-1 season at Monaca. A 9-1 mark would give the Leopards one of their best season's marks in over a decade.

Hayes To Speak At Beaver Local

Ohio State University football coach Woody Hayes will be speaker for the annual Beaver Local High School football banquet Nov. 29 at the high school near Williamsport.

Plans for the event were furthered at a meeting of the Beaver Local Booster Club Tuesday night at the school.

Hayes has been head coach at Ohio State for the past 15 years and his record has been 100 wins, 36 losses and seven ties during this period.

His Buckeye football teams have won four undisputed Big Ten titles and two national championships. Currently Ohio State is 3-3 on the season.

Hayes started his coaching career at New Philadelphia, Ohio, moved to his first college coaching job at Denison then to Miami before moving to Ohio State.

The club will provide baked steak, beverages and rolls for the coverdish event headed by Mrs. Peggy Downard, general chairman.

Free tickets will be given parents and club members who provide a coverdish for the 6:30 event. Slips on which parents will denote the dish they will provide and the number expected to attend will be taken home by students.

Anyone not attending the dinner may hear Hayes speak by coming to the school after the meal.

Michael Klembara, president, appointed an awards committee consisting of Kenneth Eells, chairman, Mrs. Peg Burcham, Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, Richard McCoy and Don Ross, coach. The committee will meet Tuesday night at 7 at the school.

A pep rally and wiener roast will be held Friday night at 7 at the school, followed by a car caravan.

The next meeting will be Nov. 22 when tickets to the dinner will be issued.

Minnesota, Purdue Duel For Bowl Nod

CHICAGO (AP) — Before the Big Ten football season began, Michigan State was expected to win a second straight conference championship and Purdue was favored to make its first Rose Bowl trip.

As the campaign progressed there was nothing to dispute these selections. Michigan State clinched a title tie last week and needs only a victory over Indiana to wrap up the championship.

Purdue was sailing along in fine fashion but suddenly the Boilermakers are up against unexpected opposition in Minnesota, a team which has rebounded magnificently following a 7-7 tie with Indiana and a 49-0 loss to Michigan.

The two teams will battle at Minneapolis Saturday and the winner undoubtedly will go on to represent the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl.

Dallas Leads In Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — There are days when you just can't believe the statistical tables as the Dallas Cowboys know. Tom Landry's Texans are first in both total offense and defense in the National Football League but second in the all-important won and lost figures.

The Cowboys had led the league in offense going into last Sunday's game at Philadelphia, but they were second in defense. They held the Eagles to a total of 80 yards and assumed the statistical lead but lost the ball game 24-23.

Dallas is first in total offense, pass offense, total defense and running defense. The Cowboys also lead the league in scoring with 289 points.

Green Bay has smeared the would-be passer 33 times for 264 yards, and St. Louis has creamed the quarterback 31 times for 269 yards.

As might be expected, Baltimore has given its passer the best protection. The Colts opposition has been able to get John Unitas and Co. only 12 times for 76 yards. The Chicago Bears' passer has been had only 12 times, also, but for 100 yards.

Houston Takes Over Offensive Lead From Irish

NEW YORK (AP) — Houston has replaced Notre Dame as the major college football leader in total offense, the latest figures compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today.

The Cougars increased their total yardage to 2,824 for a seven-game average of 403.4 yards while trampling Tulsa 73-14 last Saturday. Notre Dame is second with a 401.4 average followed by UCLA with 392.4.

The Irish took the lead in scoring with a 33.9 points a game average although Houston's output enabled it to move from 11th place to second with a 33.1 mark. Texas Western is third with 33.0.

Harvard remained the pacesetter in rushing for the sixth straight week. The Crimson was averaging 284.9 yards on the ground. Texas Western took over first place in passing average with 270.7. Tulsa, the leader a week ago, slipped to second with 267.3.

Daugherty, Parseghian See Tough Time Getting Teams Up This Week

CHICAGO (AP) — Everybody is looking ahead to the Notre Dame-Michigan State football game. Everybody, that is, except coaches Ara Parseghian and Duffy Daugherty.

In fact, Parseghian and Daugherty will have a tougher job getting their teams ready for Duke and Indiana, respectively, this week than they will when top-ranked Notre Dame and second-ranked Michigan State clash at East Lansing a week from Saturday.

How will Daugherty and Parseghian keep their teams from looking ahead to the game of the year when they are up against foes who don't have a chance according to the odds?

"If we look beyond Indiana, we could get beat," Daugherty told the Chicago Football Writers Tuesday. "We realize the danger and we'll do everything humanly possible to keep the kids from looking ahead.

"When the season started out objective was to win the Big Ten championship. We can win it now but we have to beat Indiana. So we have to say this is the most important game of the season for us.

"Nobody realized at the start of the season that the Michigan State-Notre Dame game would get this big. Nevertheless, we have to impress upon our players that the championship is the most important thing."

But Ara is a master in getting a team up in spite of the fact Michigan State and Southern Cal follow Duke, and the Irish could clinch the national championship with an undefeated season.

"We can't look ahead," says Parseghian. "We played badly in the first half against Pitt last week simply because we were looking ahead."

Tech, UCLA Also Favored

Irish, Spartans One-Sided Picks In Warmup Battles

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Notre Dame over Duke: The Irish can let Jim Seymour heal another week so that he will be hale for the Nov. 19 go-around with Michigan State.

Alabama over South Carolina: Paul Dietzel, new South Carolina coach, will wonder why he forsook Army for an afternoon such as this.

Nebraska over Oklahoma State: The Husker attack is ferocious and the defense punishing.

Georgia Tech over Penn State: Tech's Engineers got their fright last week when they barely slipped past Virginia 14-13.

Georgia over Auburn: Auburn has come a long way since the start of the season but Georgia has been there since last year because of its defense and a pair of fullbacks. A Georgia victory means at least a tie for the SEC title.

Purdue over Minnesota: The Gophers have the runners but Purdue's passer, Bob Griese, will get the points easier and quicker.

Others: Ohio State over Iowa, Illinois over Wisconsin, Michigan over Northwestern, Bowling Green over Ohio University, Louisville over Cincinnati, Kent State over Marshall, Miami (Ohio) over Dayton, Toledo over Quantico Marines, Xavier over Western Michigan.

Tim Brown Is Named NFL's Player Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Timmy Brown did something Sunday that never had been done before in the long history of the National Football League. By returning two kickoffs for touchdowns on runs of 93 and 90 yards, the fleet halfback became the first repeater of the season by The Associated Press as the Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The two returns by the 200-pound Philadelphia halfback were instrumental in the Eagles' 24-23 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Fran Tarkenton of the Minnesota Vikings excited coach Norm Van Brocklin to comment "sensational, incredible, whatever adjectives you can think of" for his play in upsetting the Green Bay Packers.

"I think he made 11 first down plays," said Van Brocklin.

However, Brown's runs will go into the record book to be recalled long after the Vikings' upset of the Packers has been forgotten.

Timmy got the long angle on Mike Johnson, Warren Livingston and Obart Logan on his 93-yard run and went all the way, despite a desperate lunge by Livingston were coming at him near the sidelines but he played one against the other and escaped.

"They had been kicking to the right most of the time and sending the most men down that side of the field," said Brown. "So I ran to the left."

Daugherty, Parseghian See Tough Time Getting Teams Up This Week

CHICAGO (AP) — Everybody is looking ahead to the Notre Dame-Michigan State football game. Everybody, that is, except coaches Ara Parseghian and Duffy Daugherty.

In fact, Parseghian and Daugherty will have a tougher job getting their teams ready for Duke and Indiana, respectively, this week than they will when top-ranked Notre Dame and second-ranked Michigan State clash at East Lansing a week from Saturday.

How will Daugherty and Parseghian keep their teams from looking ahead to the game of the year when they are up against foes who don't have a chance according to the odds?

"If we look beyond Indiana, we could get beat," Daugherty told the Chicago Football Writers Tuesday. "We realize the danger and we'll do everything humanly possible to keep the kids from looking ahead.

"When the season started out objective was to win the Big Ten championship. We can win it now but we have to beat Indiana. So we have to say this is the most important game of the season for us.

"Nobody realized at the start of the season that the Michigan State-Notre Dame game would get this big. Nevertheless, we have to impress upon our players that the championship is the most important thing."

But Ara is a master in getting a team up in spite of the fact Michigan State and Southern Cal follow Duke, and the Irish could clinch the national championship with an undefeated season.

"We can't look ahead," says Parseghian. "We played badly in the first half against Pitt last week simply because we were looking ahead."

Tech, UCLA Also Favored

Irish, Spartans One-Sided Picks In Warmup Battles

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Notre Dame over Duke: The Irish can let Jim Seymour heal another week so that he will be hale for the Nov. 19 go-around with Michigan State.

Alabama over South Carolina: Paul Dietzel, new South Carolina coach, will wonder why he forsook Army for an afternoon such as this.

Nebraska over Oklahoma State: The Husker attack is ferocious and the defense punishing.

Georgia Tech over Penn State: Tech's Engineers got their fright last week when they barely slipped past Virginia 14-13.

Georgia over Auburn: Auburn has come a long way since the start of the season but Georgia has been there since last year because of its defense and a pair of fullbacks. A Georgia victory means at least a tie for the SEC title.

Purdue over Minnesota: The Gophers have the runners but Purdue's passer, Bob Griese, will get the points easier and quicker.

Others: Ohio State over Iowa, Illinois over Wisconsin, Michigan over Northwestern, Bowling Green over Ohio University, Louisville over Cincinnati, Kent State over Marshall, Miami (Ohio) over Dayton, Toledo over Quantico Marines, Xavier over Western Michigan.

Tim Brown Is Named NFL's Player Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Timmy Brown did something Sunday that never had been done before in the long history of the National Football League. By returning two kickoffs for touchdowns on runs of 93 and 90 yards, the fleet halfback became the first repeater of the season by The Associated Press as the Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The two returns by the 200-pound Philadelphia halfback were instrumental in the Eagles' 24-23 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Fran Tarkenton of the Minnesota Vikings excited coach Norm Van Brocklin to comment "sensational, incredible, whatever adjectives you can think of" for his play in upsetting the Green Bay Packers.

"I think he made 11 first down plays," said Van Brocklin.

However, Brown's runs will go into the record book to be recalled long after the Vikings' upset of the Packers has been forgotten.

Timmy got the long angle on Mike Johnson, Warren Livingston and Obart Logan on his 93-yard run and went all the way, despite a desperate lunge by Livingston were coming at him near the sidelines but he played one against the other and escaped.

"They had been kicking to the right most of the time and sending the most men down that side of the field," said Brown. "So I ran to the left."

Did Davis Cup Captain Goof Selecting Richey?

Did MacCall pull the year's prize boner in playing 19-year-old Cliff Richey of Dallas Tex., in the singles instead of the more mature Arthur Ashe?

Is there any hope for U.S. amateur tennis, or is it going to sink lower in the doldrums?

These were some of the questions being bandied around today by tennis observers, shocked and disappointed at the American team's 3-2 loss to Brazil over the weekend in the Inter-Zone semifinals at Porto Alegre, Brazil.

"I can't second guess MacCall at this distance," said Harcourt Woods, the chairman of the U.S. Davis Cup Committee.

Richey, an intense youngster, has repeatedly turned up with leg cramps in major matches. There was some surprise when he was picked for the singles over second-ranked Ashe.

One former Davis Cup captain of another era, who didn't wish to be identified, said he felt sure the Brazilians pulled a fast one on the Americans and encouraged them to use Richey over Ashe.

"I think they purposely didn't try too hard in the tournament at Buenos Aires, won handily by Richey," he said. "That way they could get Richey into the line-up in place of Ashe, whom they feared."

Vic Seixas, former Davis Cup captain and a member of five U.S. Davis Cup teams, said he believed Richey got cramps because he worried too much before big matches.

Seixas was disinclined to attach too much blame to the captain and the players who lost at Porto Alegre.

"We have so many players of about equal ability," Vic said. "There's no one dominant player so any one is likely to beat any other. That's what happened here — plus the fact that the Brazilians had a big advantage of playing at home on their familiar clay surface."

Dennis Ralston, who lost the critical fifth match to little-known Edison Mandarino, is a grass and hard court player. Mandarino is a specialist on clay. But the Brazilians had choice of site and surface.

One critic, a former player, said the United States made a mistake in picking a captain, such as MacCall, without international experience.

"George is a great guy," the critic said, "but he hasn't played big time or Davis Cup tennis. This would never have happened under a guy like Bill Talbert." Talbert was fired in 1958 after five years as captain.

"I can only say one thing — and I've been telling the tennis officials this for years," he said. "We must crack down on our young players. They've become a bunch of temperamental cry babies, and it's our fault.

"We should start disciplining them when they're 12 and 14 years old. Let one of them throw a racket and that's it. There's no reason our boys can't act like the Australians."

Fiddler Doesn't Fiddle Around In Football Game

By CAROLYN FOCHT
Columbus Dispatch Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Whetstone concert master Bud Jenkins streaked 64 yards last week for a touchdown, proving once again he doesn't fiddle around on the football field.

When opponents learn Bud (Walter on official records) is also his high school's first string violinist, they come up with wisecracks—then get cracked.

"It makes me mad," Bud said, "so I show them how hard a violin player can hit."

A rare blend of artistic and athletic talent, Bud is as nimble on the field as on the concert stage.

The 5-foot 8-inch, 175-pound defensive linebacker is co-captain of the Whetstone Braves and holds approximately the same rank—concert master—in the prize-winning orchestra.

Before a game, he blasts wild stirring music over the stereo to "get the adrenalin going." He used to play "Finlindia" but broke the record and switched to the "Barber of Seville," and before a concert, naturally he limbers up.

He started playing the violin at the age of seven because his mother wanted him to play something. "I picked the violin because of all the action," Bud laughed.

Bud's father, John, formerly directed the Neil Avenue Methodist Church choir and taught music in schools at Alexandria and Homer, Ohio. His mother also "sings quite a bit."

Modzelewski Is New Iron Man Of NFL

The defensive tackle is expected to play in his 175th consecutive NFL game, breaking a 174 game record held by former San Francisco lineman Leo Nomellini (1950 through 1963).

Modzelewski, 35, is in his 14th NFL campaign and broke in with the Washington Redskins in 1953.

"I think I got into the game in place of Paul Lipscomb," said Modzelewski, who hasn't missed a game since then. He stayed with the Redskins through 1954, moved on to Pittsburgh the next year and for 102 games, from 1956 through 1963, was with the New York Giants.

He came to Cleveland in the winter of 1964 in a trade for end Bobby Crespino and moved in as a starter when Frank Parker was injured. Coach Blanton Collier has credited Modzelewski as being a key factor in the Browns division and league championship team that year.

The 6-foot, 245-pounder isn't looking beyond this season, but he would like another division title for the Browns. "It would mean six in a row for me," he said.

Dartmouth has never lost to Massachusetts in football. The rivals played a scoreless tie in 1902 but since then the Big Green has won 17 times.

Patrol Cites Driver Of Bus

The driver of a bus for the Columbiana County School for Retarded Children was cited following an accident at the junction of Township Roads 1002 and 799 between West Point and Wellsville Tuesday at 7:30 a.m.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Francis Barber, 36, of Lisbon R. D. 1 was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after the bus he was driving collided with a car operated by Oliver Lee Cecil, 24, of Wellsville R. D. 1.

Three children on the bus escaped injury. Barber halted at the intersection and then pulled onto the through roadway into the path of the oncoming Cecil car, according to officers, who said the car slid sideways into the side of the bus.

Hattie C. Smith, 60, of 332 S. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, escaped injury when her compact car overturned on its side on Route 154, six-tenths a mile east of Lisbon yesterday at 4 p. m.

The car went off the right side of the road and the woman lost control, striking an embankment, officers said. She told officers she was forced over by an oncoming car.

A car operated by Eileen Seevers, 30, of Lycia Ave., Chester, and a tractor - trailer rig operated by George W. Dillon, 39, of Clinton, Pa., collided at 9:20 p. m. at the intersection of Routes 30 and 170 at Calcutta. The woman was headed south on Route 170 and turned onto Route 30, colliding with the truck, officers said. No citations were issued.

Elkrun Township Kills Liquor Sale

The question was rejected by a margin of 129. The complete unofficial count showed:

Yes	190
No	319

The same proposal has been on the ballot in the township several times in recent years, but always was defeated. Sale of beer now is legal in the township, which has only one tavern.

Reagan Paces Spectaculcar Individual GOP Victories

Democrats Retain House Control 7th Straight Time

Percy Trounces Douglas; Romney, Brooke Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paced by actor Ronald Reagan's election as California governor, Republicans won spectacular individual victories across the nation in Tuesday's balloting while making inroads into the Democrats' control of Congress.

While Reagan was inundating Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in California, a new GOP star was rising in industrialist Charles H. Percy's trouncing of veteran Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas in Illinois.

In Michigan, Gov. George Romney barged into the 1968 Republican presidential nomination contention with a landslide third-term victory which swept GOP Sen. Robert P. Griffin and the party's state slate into office.

Brooke Makes History

Edward W. Brooke claimed a voice in GOP councils by getting elected in Massachusetts as the first Negro ever chosen by popular vote as a member of the Senate.

In Tennessee youthful Howard H. Baker Jr. won a seat in the flock shepherded by his father-in-law, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

President Johnson's home state of Texas sent GOP Sen. John G. Tower back for another six-year term in the Senate. Texas also joined in contributing the Republican resurgence in the House by electing two GOP members to break the previously solid Democratic delegation.

Robert Taft Jr., seeking a comeback to Congress after being defeated for the Senate two years ago in the Goldwater debacle, held a slim lead over his Democratic opponent, Rep. John J. Gilligan with two-thirds of the vote counted in Ohio's 1st District.

Stunning GOP Victories

There were stunning GOP governorship victories for Winthrop Rockefeller in Arkansas and for Claude Kirk Jr. in Florida. Since Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller won re-election in New York, future governors' conferences will have a brother act for the first time in memory.

But a Republican gain which could reach 45 seats — 33 were nailed down — threatened to change the political atmosphere of the new House, boding ill for future "Great Society" proposals of President Johnson. Gone would be the current Democratic majority of 295 to 140 over the Republicans and with it the fine edge of support needed for several presidential programs.

A potential Republican gain of three in the Senate would not provide too much political pain for the Democrats, now holding a 67-33 margin there. The addition of liberal Republicans might assuage what little there was.

If the Republican gains in Congress were about in line with what could be expected in a nonpresidential election year — the average is about 40 for the party locked out of the White House — the GOP increased its strength in governors' races where it counts most in future presidential contests.

Control 8 Statehouses

Republicans gained control of eight statehouses while losing two, the latter in Kansas and Maine. In contests in 35 states in which Democrats held 20 and the GOP 15, they took governors' offices away from the Democrats in Arizona, California, Florida, Maryland, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico and Arkansas.

Of the remainder, Democrats were leading in one and the Republicans in five.

Democrats generally were reluctant to assess the outcome. President Johnson spent election night at his Texas ranch and planned no statement on the outcome.

Dirksen called the results "a very significant GOP shift from one end of the country to the other." He added that "it's going to make a tremendous difference in the next Congress."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the Republican showing is a "clear signal to Hanoi that the House will take a much stronger stand on prosecuting the war in Viet Nam." Echoing this, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, head of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, said the election outcome "has made it abundantly clear we mean business in Viet Nam."

Morton, Ford and GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss joined in denying that Viet Nam had been an election issue. They said dissatisfaction with Johnson's economic policies helped the Republicans.

It was an important Republican beachhead Kirk won in Florida when he defeated the Democratic mayor of Miami, Robert King High, to give the GOP its first hold on the governor's office since Reconstruction days.

Pattern Of Reaction

Kirk's victory, however, may have been part of a pattern of segregationist reaction in the South to racial disturbances. Kirk charged High with being an ultraliberal who favored the Negroes.

If the extent of the white backlash was not entirely clear in Florida, there was no mistaking its impact in Alabama.

Lurleen Wallace, running as a Democratic standin for her segregationist husband, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, defeated Republican James D. Martin, not quite as outspoken as she and the governor on the issue. She was the first woman governor ever elected in Alabama and the first of her sex to win the office in 42 years in any state.

This victory put Wallace into gear for a third-party bid for the presidency in 1968, a maneuver that might cost the Republicans more dearly in electoral votes than President Johnson, if the latter does the expected and runs for a second elective term.

In Georgia, the lead seesawed between Democrat Lester G. Maddox, the epitome of segregationists, and Republican Howard (Bo) Callaway, something of a moderate on the question.

Eastland Wins Easily

In Mississippi, Sen. James O. Eastland, who heads the Senate Judiciary Committee where civil rights legislation has been mangled in the past, easily defeated Republican challenger Prentiss Walker.

If there was a political lesson these results, it was that Deep South Democrats who voted for Barry Goldwater in 1964 after he had opposed that year's civil rights bill went back to the familiar Democratic column when they were offered an all-out segregationist candidate in that party.

But Winthrop Rockefeller's victory over Democratic segregationist Jim Johnson in Arkansas reversed this pattern. It was of the same nature as the success of moderate Republican Spiro T. Agnew in winning the governorship in Maryland over Democrat George P. Mahoney, an opponent of open housing.

There were signs the white backlash figured in Reagan's California victory and in Percy's defeat of Douglas in Illinois.

National Broadcasting Co.'s Electronic Vote Analysis indicated Brown got only 36.6 per cent of the votes in the Watts riot area of Los Angeles compared with 52.5 he fielded there four years ago.

In winning over Douglas, Percy got an unusually large vote in the predominantly Democratic Chicago area, scene of racial disturbances and of Negro efforts to advance into white suburbs.

In New York, voters tossed out a controversial civilian-dominated police review board set up by GOP Mayor John V. Lindsay and backed by Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Jacob I. Javits, R-N.Y., as well as by civil rights organizations.

War Issue Signs Scant

Signs that the Viet Nam war figured in the over-all outcome were scant.

In Oregon, GOP Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, who had softened his criticisms of Johnson's war policies as the campaign wore on, was leading for a Senate seat in a contest with Democratic Rep. Robert B. Duncan, who made an issue of his support of Johnson's course in Asia.

In New Hampshire, Republican Harrison Thyng, a former Air Force brigadier general who favored escalation of the war was defeated by Democratic Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, generally a supporter of Johnson's Asia policies.

Democratic Sen. Claiborne Pell turned back in the Rhode Island Senate race a challenge from retired WAC Lt. Col. Ruth M. Brigg, who took a more militant stand on the war than Pell.

Republican James C. Gardner, a strong foe of the Johnson administration but a hawk on the war, toppled veteran Rep. Harold D. Cooley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, in North Carolina's 4th District House race.

'No' To Troop Pullout

Dearborn, Mich., voters gave a resounding "no" to a ballot question which asked if they favored a cease-fire and withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam.

NBC's electronic analysis indicated that the Republicans picked up sizable votes among minorities in congressional races but only held their own among well-to-do city dwellers.

The Republicans were credited with getting 14 per cent of the Negro vote across the country compared with 6 per cent in 1964. In the East the Negro vote was 21 per cent, compared with 4 per cent two years ago.

Low income voters supported Democratic House candidates 70 per cent and middle income voters 61 per cent, the analysis showed, while the Republicans got the votes of 54 per cent of those earning more than $10,000 a year.

Led by Rockefeller in New York, Romney in Michigan and James A. Rhodes in Ohio, the Republicans solidified their hold on the big electoral vote states. Besides these three, they kept Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin in their column.

With the exception of Reagan, most of the GOP governor candidates who won represented a moderate party viewpoint. They seemed likely to form the nucleus for a bid by the moderates to reclaim control of the GOP from the conservatives who nominated Goldwater in 1964.

Romney Top Contender

By his substantial victory in Michigan Romney marched to the forefront of contenders for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

But he might have to contend with Reagan, who won convincingly in the most populous state, and who could become the focal point of a conservative drive to win the GOP presidential nomination two years from now.

Not to be forgotten, of course, was former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, chief campaigner for the Republicans this year. Nixon, who occupies a position somewhere between Reagan and Romney, has some political I.O.U.'s from House and Senate candidates he is credited with helping elect.

The new star in the GOP firmament, Percy, also had a place in presidential speculation, even if it wasn't as well defined as that of his possible rivals.

There remained of course, the possibility that having been re-elected for a third four-year term, Nelson Rockefeller might change his mind about never again seeking the GOP presidential nomination.

On the Democratic side, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was having a struggle keeping his home base of Minnesota safe for the Democrats. Democratic Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag, for whom Humphrey campaigned down to the wire, was trailing for re-election. Democratic Sen. Walter F. Mondale won a new term.

Robert Kennedy was not so lucky politically. His candidate for governor of New York, Democrat Frank D. O'Connor went down to defeat. Kennedy campaigned also for Democratic governor candidates Brown in California, Patrick J. Lucey in Wisconsin and senatorial candidates Douglas in Illinois, G. Mennen Williams in Michigan and Duncan in Oregon. All of them were beaten except Duncan, and he was trailing.

GOP Gains Imperil LBJ's 'Great Society' Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats reclaimed House control for the seventh straight Congress today but bigger-than-expected Republican gains imperiled the Johnson administration's working majority on "Great Society" domestic programs.

An influx of Republicans from the traditionally GOP states of the Midwest and from the once solidly Democratic South whittled the big Democratic majority to less than it was before President Johnson's 1964 landslide victory.

Wins 242 Districts

Democrats had won 242 districts and were leading in 7 others early today, while Republicans had captured 173 and were leading in 15 — a potential GOP pickup of 46. Democrats had a 295-140 House majority in the last Congress.

The party out of power has won an average of 40 seats in off-year elections over the last 30 years.

Although the 89th Congress approved the great bulk of the Johnson program, such measures as demonstration cities, rent supplements and medicare slipped through with majorities that could have been erased with a 25-vote change because of the traditional GOP-Southern Democrat alliance.

Thus the loss of so many Democratic seats, most held by firm administration supporters, means the administration could be headed for difficulty in financing programs such as demonstration cities and rent supplements.

May Inhibit Johnson

The election outcome also may inhibit Johnson, a political realist, from proposing any vast new domestic programs to the 90th Congress.

Of the 44 freshman Democrats running for re-election from districts that were Republican before 1964, slightly more than half won or were headed for victory. Early today, the count stood 20 re-elected 13 defeated 5 leading and 6 trailing.

Of six bellwether districts that had reflected House trends over the past decade, four held true to form and went back to the Republicans — in Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. But Democrats held two others, in Connecticut and Indiana.

Republicans did better than expected in the South, picking up two seats in Texas and Virginia and one each in Florida, Georgia, Tennessee and North Carolina. Democrats regained two of five Republican seats in Alabama and one in Mississippi.

Scores Smashing Victory

One of the Democrats to go under was Rep. Harold D. Cooley of North Carolina, veteran chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, who was defeated by Republican James Gardner.

One Republican newcomer, in California, was former Olympic decathlon champion Robert B. Mathias who unseated Rep Harlan Hagen.

Democrat John V. Tunney, son of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, won re-election in California.

triumph, along with some of the other GOP new faces that emerged in the election, is likely to strengthen the party's liberal wing in the Senate.

The two GOP pickups of seats now held by Democrats came in:

Tennessee — where Howard H. Baker, son-in-law of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, trounced the one-time boy orator, Gov. Frank G. Clement.

Another major Republican victory came in Michigan. Sen. Robert P. Griffin won handily over former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who had gained recognition as the most potent Democratic vote-getter in Michigan history.

Incumbents Win In South

All Democratic incumbents in the South turned back Republican challenges, winning in Alabama, South Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi and North Carolina.

But two Southern Republicans — Strom Thurmond in South Carolina and John G. Tower in Texas — also held onto their seats.

Brooke, Percy and Hatfield have taken positions which put them in the moderate to progressive wing of the party. Two GOP veterans who won by stunning margins Tuesday, Clifford P. Case in New Jersey and John Sherman Cooper in Kentucky, also have been in this wing.

Win First Full Terms

And Griffin, named to the Senate last spring to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, has followed a moderate voting line.

The upshot of Tuesday's voting therefore seems likely to be a Senate which will furnish the same strong margin for welfare legislation provided by its predecessor in the 89th Congress.

Three veteran Democratic senators who head important committees won re-election with little difficulty. They were James O. Eastland of Mississippi, chairman of the Judiciary Committee; Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, chairman of the Space Committee, and Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, who heads the Public Works Committee.

Three Democrats trying for their first full terms after serving the remainder of unexpired terms won election. They were Fred R. Harris in Oklahoma, Thomas J. McIntyre in New Hampshire and Walter F. Mondale in Minnesota.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, easily captured a fourth-term bid. She will be the only woman member of the Senate.

Other Republicans who will return are Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, also gaining a fourth term; Gordon Allott of Colorado; Len B. Jordan of Idaho; Jack Miller of Iowa; J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware; James B. Pearson of Kansas and Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska.

The Democrats had believed that Nebraska's Democratic governor, Frank B. Morrison, could unseat Curtis, but the GOP senator piled up a comfortable margin.

Other Democratic victories were scored by B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina; Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, who won a second term by an overwhelming margin; former Gov. Earnest F. Hollings of South Carolina; William B. Spong Jr. and Harry F. Byrd Jr., in Virginia, Lee Metcalf of Montana, and E.L. Bartlett of Alaska.

Republicans Gain 2 New Seats In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have gained two new Senate seats and have scored a dramatic triumph by electing the first Negro ever chosen for the body by popular vote.

They appeared on their way to capturing a third seat from the Democrats in Oregon where Gov. Mark O. Hatfield maintained a lead over Rep. Robert B. Duncan with 81 per cent of the votes counted.

Fails To Unseat GOP

The Democrats easily retained control of the Senate in Tuesday's voting but, despite high hopes in several states, failed to unseat a single Republican in the 30 contested races already decided.

With only two races still remaining unsettled, the Senate lineup stood at 64-34 Democratic. It was 67-33 in the 89th Congress which adjourned last month.

Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke was the Negro victor in one of the nation's most closely watched Senate races. He will be the first member of his race to serve in the Senate since Reconstruction days.

Brooke Wins Handily

Brooke handily defeated former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody. Brooke's

There remained of course, the possibility that having been re-elected for a third four-year term, Nelson Rockefeller might change his mind about never again seeking the GOP presidential nomination.

On the Democratic side, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was having a struggle keeping his home base of Minnesota safe for the Democrats. Democratic Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag, for whom Humphrey campaigned down to the wire, was trailing for re-election. Democratic Sen. Walter F. Mondale won a new term.

Robert Kennedy was not so lucky politically. His candidate for governor of New York, Democrat Frank D. O'Connor went down to defeat. Kennedy campaigned also for Democratic governor candidates Brown in California, Patrick J. Lucey in Wisconsin and senatorial candidates Douglas in Illinois, G. Mennen Williams in Michigan and Duncan in Oregon. All of them were beaten except Duncan, and he was trailing.

GOP Gains Imperil LBJ's 'Great Society' Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats reclaimed House control for the seventh straight Congress today but bigger-than-expected Republican gains imperiled the Johnson administration's working majority on "Great Society" domestic programs.

An influx of Republicans from the traditionally GOP states of the Midwest and from the once solidly Democratic South whittled the big Democratic majority to less than it was before President Johnson's 1964 landslide victory.

Wins 242 Districts

Democrats had won 242 districts and were leading in 7 others early today, while Republicans had captured 173 and were leading in 15 — a potential GOP pickup of 46. Democrats had a 295-140 House majority in the last Congress.

The party out of power has won an average of 40 seats in off-year elections over the last 30 years.

Although the 89th Congress approved the great bulk of the Johnson program, such measures as demonstration cities, rent supplements and medicare slipped through with majorities that could have been erased with a 25-vote change because of the traditional GOP-Southern Democrat alliance.

Thus the loss of so many Democratic seats, most held by firm administration supporters, means the administration could be headed for difficulty in financing programs such as demonstration cities and rent supplements.

May Inhibit Johnson

The election outcome also may inhibit Johnson, a political realist, from proposing any vast new domestic programs to the 90th Congress.

Of the 44 freshman Democrats running for re-election from districts that were Republican before 1964, slightly more than half won or were headed for victory. Early today, the count stood 20 re-elected, 13 defeated, 5 leading and 6 trailing.

Of six bellwether districts that had reflected House trends over the past decade, four held true to form and went back to the Republicans — in Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. But Democrats held two others, in Connecticut and Indiana.

Republicans did better than expected in the South, picking up two seats in Texas and Virginia and one each in Florida, Georgia, Tennessee and North Carolina. Democrats regained two of five Republican seats in Alabama and one in Mississippi.

Scores Smashing Victory

One of the Democrats to go under was Rep. Harold D. Cooley of North Carolina, veteran chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, who was defeated by Republican James Gardner.

One Republican newcomer, in California, was former Olympic decathlon champion Robert B. Mathias who unseated Rep. Harlan Hagen.

Republicans Gain 2 New Seats In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have gained two new Senate seats and have scored a dramatic triumph by electing the first Negro ever chosen for the body by popular vote.

They appeared on their way to capturing a third seat from the Democrats in Oregon where Gov. Mark O. Hatfield maintained a lead over Rep. Robert B. Duncan with 81 per cent of the votes counted.

Fails To Unseat GOP

The Democrats easily retained control of the Senate in Tuesday's voting but, despite high hopes in several states, failed to unseat a single Republican in the 30 contested races already decided.

With only two races still remaining unsettled, the Senate lineup stood at 64-34 Democratic. It was 67-33 in the 89th Congress which adjourned last month.

Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke was the Negro victor in one of the nation's most closely watched Senate races. He will be the first member of his race to serve in the Senate since Reconstruction days.

Brooke Wins Handily

Brooke handily defeated former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody. Brooke's triumph, along with some of the other GOP new faces that emerged in the election, is likely to strengthen the party's liberal wing in the Senate.

The two GOP pickups of seats now held by Democrats came in:

Tennessee — where Howard H. Baker, son-in-law of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, trounced the one-time boy orator, Gov. Frank G. Clement.

Another major Republican victory came in Michigan. Sen. Robert P. Griffin won handily over former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who had gained recognition as the most potent Democratic vote-getter in Michigan history.

Incumbents Win In South

All Democratic incumbents in the South turned back Republican challenges, winning in Alabama, South Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi and North Carolina.

But two Southern Republicans — Strom Thurmond in South Carolina and John G. Tower in Texas — also held onto their seats.

Brooke, Percy and Hatfield have taken positions which put them in the moderate to progressive wing of the party. Two GOP veterans who won by stunning margins Tuesday, Clifford P. Case in New Jersey and John Sherman Cooper in Kentucky, also have been in this wing.

Win First Full Terms

And Griffin, named to the Senate last spring to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, has followed a moderate voting line.

The upshot of Tuesday's voting therefore seems likely to be a Senate which will furnish the same strong margin for welfare legislation provided by its predecessor in the 89th Congress.

Three veteran Democratic senators who head important committees won re-election with little difficulty. They were James O. Eastland of Mississippi, chairman of the Judiciary Committee; Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, chairman of the Space Committee, and Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, who heads the Public Works Committee.

Three Democrats trying for their first full terms after serving the remainder of unexpired terms won election. They were Fred R. Harris in Oklahoma, Thomas J. McIntyre in New Hampshire and Walter F. Mondale in Minnesota.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, easily captured a fourth-term bid. She will be the only woman member of the Senate.

Other Republicans who will return are Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, also gaining a fourth term; Gordon Allott of Colorado; Len B. Jordan of Idaho; Jack Miller of Iowa; J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware; James B. Pearson of Kansas and Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska.

The Democrats had believed that Nebraska's Democratic governor, Frank B. Morrison, could unseat Curtis, but the GOP senator piled up a comfortable margin.

Other Democratic victories were scored by B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina; Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, who won a second term by an overwhelming margin; former Gov. Earnest F. Hollings of South Carolina; William B. Spong Jr. and Harry F. Byrd Jr., in Virginia, Lee Metcalf of Montana, and E.L. Bartlett of Alaska.

Against Levy	281

The totals on the fire protection levy were:

For the Levy	227
Against Levy	230

'Head Start' Program OK'd By Lisbon Board

LISBON — The village Board of Education Tuesday night authorized Supt. Joe Driscoll to plan a "Head Start" program for Lisbon school district youngsters next summer.

Ten per cent of the cost of the federally - sponsored program will be borne by the local board, but its share can be in the form of a classroom, it was explained.

Driscoll said "Head Start" is for youngsters, 4½ and up, who come from low-income families and "have not had the proper start in life."

Ten are required to launch a program. The school nurse told Driscoll the district has approximately 15 children eligible for the program. The county office of the Community Action Committee is checking on prospective "pupils."

The board voted unanimously to give the high school band permission to participate in a Thanksgiving Day parade at Pittsburgh, with a department store as sponsor.

Action was taken after considering a memorandum issued last month by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools relative to the appearance of school musical groups in special events.

One of the policies states that a school musical group may not participate in an event having commercial motivation or sponsorship. The policy listed "department store parades" as an example.

George M. Nace Jr., principal of David Anderson High School, told the board Lisbon has been a member of the North Central Association since 1913 and he cannot see "why we should knowingly violate its policy."

Arrangements to participate in the parade were made last year. The band will receive all expenses plus a donation. Driscoll said a poll of band members showed they want to participate and "be on television."

The board voted to buy a projector and records from Guidance Associates, Pleasantville, N. Y., for $289.50. The material is for use in the high school. Since the purchase is under Title III of the National Defense Education Act, the federal government will pay one-half the cost.

The board tabled a letter of resignation from Clerk Henry Dawes, who said he will leave the post Dec. 31. He has been clerk since November 1955. The position pays $3,000 a year.

In other business, the board decided to:

As for a cable TV outlet at each of the three schools when the CATV system is installed;

Pay $5 as Lisbon's share of the program for the countywide bus drivers' workshop and dinner next Tuesday evening at Beaver Local School. The Columbiana County Motor Club will provide the meal.

Permit Psychologist Cornell Monda to attend a meeting of the school psychologists of Ohio Friday and Saturday at Akron, and

100 Units Are Expected In Midland Event Friday

More than 100 units are expected to participate in the annual Beaver County Veterans Day parade at Midland Friday morning, according to John Reider, chairman.

Midland American Legion Post 481 is this year's host unit.

About 3,000 will take part in the parade, which will form at 9:30 at the west end of Midland Ave. and be ready to move out at 10:15.

The parade route will be east to 11th St., north on 11th St., to Ohio Ave., past the reviewing stand at the First Presbyterian Church, and to Lincoln Park, near the high school, where the marchers will disband.

High school bands will include Aliquippa, Ambridge, Beaver Falls, Beaver Area, Center High, Hopewell, Midland, Monaca, New Brighton, New Brighton Junior High, Northwestern, Riverside, Rochester and Western Beaver.

Also participating will be Jim Sebastian's Cornet band of Monaca, the VFW Cub Pack 411 Drum and Bugle Corps, sponsored by VFW Post 165 of Ambridge, and the 28th Signal Battalion of New Brighton, comprised of about 25 men.

At 11 there will be a 21-gun salute. Those participating in the parade will be served hot dogs and drinks at the First Presbyterian Methodist, St. George Serbian Orthodox and Presentation Catholic Churches and at the high school.

The parade will be followed with the Gold Star Mothers luncheon at 1 p. m. at the Steelworkers building.

The Veterans Day committee includes John F. Shovlin III, general chairman, Woodrow Pflugh, co-chairman, Woodrow Jones, honorary chairman, and Joe Mulach, committee secretary.

Arfman Defeated

Court Contests Won By Dickson And Greenamyer

East Palestine and Leetonia attorneys were elected judges of the Columbiana County Courts, defeating a Salem incumbent who is rounding out his sixth year on the bench, according to complete but unofficial returns from the general election Tuesday.

Edward C. Greenamyer of Leetonia and D. Barry Dickson of East Palestine won the four-year terms in the lower courts, unseating Judge Herbert E. Arfman of Salem, who now presides in the Eastern Area County Court at East Palestine. Judge Arfman was seeking a third term.

The complete returns showed:

Greenamyer	12,416
Dickson	11,044
Arfman	8,994

Greenamyer now serves as acting judge in the Northwest Area County Court at Salem in place of ailing Judge Luther Donbar of Columbiana. Judge Donbar did not enter for a new term.

Greenamyer, 54, has practiced law since 1949. He has served as acting judge since last February.

Dickson, 42, received his law degree from the Youngstown University College of Law in 1954. He also operates a 230-acre farm in Unity Township.

The holdover judge is James L. MacDonald of Lisbon, who presides in the Southwest Area County Court in the county seat.

The county court district is comprised of all the area in Columbiana County except East Liverpool and Liverpool Township, which are in the jurisdiction of the East Liverpool Municipal Court.

Common Pleas Court at Lisbon will assign the judges-elect to their benches. The three candidates ran on a nonpartisan judicial ballot.

Board Winds Up Its Tally Earliest In Many Years

By ROBERT POPP

Columbiana County's election reporting system functioned like well-oiled machinery Tuesday night, furnishing complete returns from all 168 precincts by 12:45 this morning — probably the earliest quitting time for the Election Board's staff in at least a generation.

All the returns had been received at 11:40 p.m. from the scattered precincts throughout the county. They were entered on the board's charts and totaled just an hour and five minutes later.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, complimented the 1,008 precinct judges and clerks, the augmented staff in the board's office, the district collectors and runners for the quick completion of the count.

"EVERYONE performed his job swiftly and efficiently, allowing us to complete the task of gathering the returns in the quickest time in recent memory," she commented.

The board usually works until 2 a.m. the day following an off-year election to gather the complete unofficial returns. After the heavy voting in a presidential election, the job of collecting returns usually is not completed until about 4 a.m.

In addition to gathering countywide returns, the board here collects and compiles the returns from the 18th Congressional District and the 30th State Senatorial District. Other counties in the district report by telephone. The congressional district now has seven counties, while the state senatorial district is made up of four counties and a part of a fifth.

The returns were tabulated in two sections, following instructions from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who received cumulative totals all through the night from Ohio's 88 counties. The top half of the ticket was complete at 10:30 p.m. The second section had been tabulated an hour and 10 minutes later.

IMMEDIATELY after the polls closed, the board made a "flash" count of returns in the East Liverpool area on the local school levy and the Reams-Rhodes governorship race. The returns were complete at 7:55. Precinct J of the Second Ward was the first to report in the "flash" count. It telephoned its figures at 6:41 p.m., just 11 minutes after the polls closed.

The county's total vote yesterday was 29,566, more than 6,000 under the forecast of 36,000. Election observers said a steady rain was a big factor in reducing the turnout. East Liverpool's total vote was about 5,700.

Columbiana County cast 33,839 votes in the last similar election in 1962. The city's vote four years ago was 6,396.

The board will convene Thursday morning at its office here to begin the official canvass of the returns. The job may require until Saturday or Monday.

Wilfing Reviews Federal Plans At Meeting Of PTA

Charles Wilfing, high school faculty member, discussed the effect of federal education and the results of "Head Start" Monday night during the meeting of the MacDonald Parent-Teacher Association in the all-purpose room of the Wellsville school.

He was introduced by Mrs. Norma Welker, program chairman. A question-and-answer period followed.

The pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. Coleen Rosenlieb, president. The Rev. I. M. Wolfley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, led devotions. The group voted to donate $5 to the Child Counseling Center in East Liverpool and $5 to the Citizens Committee for Better Schools to help with the campaign conducted on behalf of the 4-mill levy on Tuesday's ballot. Mrs. Pat Bauman reported on the card party Friday, from which $100 was realized.

Mrs. Christine Wilson's morning kindergarten class won the room count of parents. Kindergarten mothers provided the refreshments.

There will be no meeting in December, since a Christmas program will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Louise Lawton, elementary schools music supervisor.

To vary rice that is to be served with curry, add almonds, coconut, golden raisins or currants.

'Head Start' Program OK'd By Lisbon Board

LISBON — The village Board of Education Tuesday night authorized Supt. Joe Driscoll to plan a "Head Start" program for Lisbon school district youngsters next summer.

Ten per cent of the cost of the federally - sponsored program will be borne by the local board, but its share can be in the form of a classroom, it was explained.

Driscoll said "Head Start" is for youngsters, 4½ and up, who come from low-income families and "have not had the proper start in life."

Ten are required to launch a program. The school nurse told Driscoll the district has approximately 15 children eligible for the program. The county office of the Community Action Committee is checking on prospective "pupils."

The board voted unanimously to give the high school band permission to participate in a Thanksgiving Day parade at Pittsburgh, with a department store as sponsor.

Action was taken after considering a memorandum issued last month by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools relative to the appearance of school musical groups in special events.

One of the policies states that a school musical group may not participate in an event having commercial motivation or sponsorship. The policy listed "department store parades" as an example.

George M. Nace Jr., principal of David Anderson High School, told the board Lisbon has been a member of the North Central Association since 1913 and he cannot see "why we should knowingly violate its policy."

Arrangements to participate in the parade were made last year. The band will receive all expenses plus a donation. Driscoll said a poll of band members showed they want to participate and "be on television."

The board voted to buy a projector and records from Guidance Associates, Pleasantville, N. Y., for $289.50. The material is for use in the high school. Since the purchase is under Title III of the National Defense Education Act, the federal government will pay one-half the cost.

The board tabled a letter of resignation from Clerk Henry Dawes, who said he will leave the post Dec. 31. He has been clerk since November 1955. The position pays $3,000 a year.

In other business, the board decided to:

As for a cable TV outlet at each of the three schools when the CATV system is installed;

Pay $5 as Lisbon's share of the program for the countywide bus drivers' workshop and dinner next Tuesday evening at Beaver Local School. The Columbiana County Motor Club will provide the meal.

Permit Psychologist Cornell Monda to attend a meeting of the school psychologists of Ohio Friday and Saturday at Akron, and

100 Units Are Expected In Midland Event Friday

More than 100 units are expected to participate in the annual Beaver County Veterans Day parade at Midland Friday morning, according to John Reider, chairman.

Midland American Legion Post 481 is this year's host unit.

About 2,000 will take part in the parade, which will form at 9:30 at the west end of Midland Ave. and be ready to move out at 10:15.

The parade route will be east to 11th St., north on 11th St., to Ohio Ave., past the reviewing stand at the First Presbyterian Church, and to Lincoln Park, near the high school, where the marchers will disband.

High school bands will include Aliquippa, Ambridge, Beaver Falls, Beaver Area, Center High, Hopewell, Midland, Monaca, New Brighton, New Brighton Junior High, Northwestern, Riverside, Rochester and Western Beaver.

Also participating will be Jim Sebastian's Cornet band of Monaca, the VFW Cub Pack 411 Drum and Bugle Corps, sponsored by VFW Post 165 of Ambridge, and the 28th Signal Battalion of New Brighton, comprised of about 25 men.

At 11 there will be a 21-gun salute. Those participating in the parade will be served hot dogs and drinks at the First Presbyterian, Methodist, St. George Serbian Orthodox and Presentation Catholic Churches and at the high school.

The parade will be followed with the Gold Star Mothers luncheon at 1 p. m. at the Steelworkers building.

The Veterans Day committee includes John F. Shovlin III, general chairman, Woodrow Pflugh, co-chairman, Woodrow Jones, honorary chairman, and Joe Mulach, committee secretary.

Arfman Defeated

Court Contests Won By Dickson And Greenamyer

East Palestine and Leetonia attorneys were elected judges of the Columbiana County Courts, defeating a Salem incumbent who is rounding out his sixth year on the bench, according to complete but unofficial returns from the general election Tuesday.

Edward C. Greenamyer of Leetonia and D. Barry Dickson of East Palestine won the four-year terms in the lower courts, unseating Judge Herbert E. Arfman of Salem, who now presides in the Eastern Area County Court at East Palestine. Judge Arfman was seeking a third term.

The complete returns showed

Greenamyer	12,416
Dickson	11,044
Arfman	8,994

Greenamyer now serves as acting judge in the Northwest Area County Court at Salem in place of ailing Judge Luther Donbar of Columbiana. Judge Donbar did not enter for a new term.

Greenamyer, 34, has practiced law since 1949. He has served as acting judge since last February.

Dickson, 42, received his law degree from the Youngstown University College of Law in 1964. He also operates a 230-acre farm in Unity Township.

The holdover judge is James L. MacDonald of Lisbon, who presides in the Southwest Area County Court in the county seat.

The county court district is comprised of all the area in Columbiana County except East Liverpool and Liverpool Township, which are in the jurisdiction of the East Liverpool Municipal Court.

Common Pleas Court at Lisbon will assign the judges-elect to their benches. The three candidates ran on a nonpartisan judicial ballot.

Board Winds Up Its Tally Earliest In Many Years

By ROBERT POPP

Columbiana County's election reporting system functioned like well-oiled machinery Tuesday night, furnishing complete returns from all 168 precincts by 12:45 this morning — probably the earliest quitting time for the Election Board's staff in at least a generation.

All the returns had been received at 11:40 p.m. from the scattered precincts throughout the county. They were entered on the board's charts and totaled just an hour and five minutes later.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, complimented the 1,008 precinct judges and clerks, the augmented staff in the board's office, the district collectors and runners for the quick completion of the count.

"EVERYONE performed his job swiftly and efficiently, allowing us to complete the task of gathering the returns in the quickest time in recent memory," she commented.

The board usually works until 2 a.m. the day following an off-year election to gather the complete, unofficial returns. After the heavy voting in a presidential election, the job of collecting returns usually is not completed until about 4 a.m.

In addition to gathering countywide returns, the board here collects and compiles the returns from the 18th Congressional District and the 30th State Senatorial District. Other counties in the district report by telephone. The congressional district now has seven counties, while the state senatorial district is made up of four counties and a part of a fifth.

The returns were tabulated in two sections, following instructions from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who received cumulative totals all through the night from Ohio's 88 counties. The top half of the ticket was complete at 10:30 p.m. The second section had been tabulated an hour and 10 minutes later.

IMMEDIATELY after the polls closed, the board made a "flash" count of returns in the East Liverpool area on the local school levy and the Reams-Rhodes governorship race. The returns were complete at 7:55. Precinct J of the Second Ward was the first to report in the "flash" count. It telephoned its figures at 6:41 p.m., just 11 minutes after the polls closed.

The county's total vote yesterday was 29,566, more than 6,000 under the forecast of 36,000. Election observers said a steady rain was a big factor in reducing the turnout. East Liverpool's total vote was about 5,700.

Columbiana County cast 33,839 votes in the last similar election in 1962. The city's vote four years ago was 6,396.

The board will convene Thursday morning at its office here to begin the official canvass of the returns. The job may require until Saturday or Monday.

Wilfing Reviews Federal Plans At Meeting Of PTA

Charles Wilfing, high school faculty member, discussed the effect of federal education and the results of "Head Start" Monday night during the meeting of the MacDonald Parent-Teacher Association in the all-purpose room of the Wellsville school.

He was introduced by Mrs. Norma Welker, program chairman. A question-and-answer period followed.

The pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. Coleen Rosenleib, president. The Rev. I. M. Wolfley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, led devotions. The group voted to donate $5 to the Child Counseling Center in East Liverpool and $5 to the Citizens Committee for Better Schools to help with the campaign conducted on behalf of the 4-mill levy on Tuesday's ballot. Mrs. Pat Bauman reported on the card party Friday, from which $100 was realized.

Mrs. Christine Wilson's morning kindergarten class won the room count of parents. Kindergarten mothers provided the refreshments.

There will be no meeting in December, since a Christmas program will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Louise Lawton, elementary schools music supervisor.

To vary rice that is to be served with curry, add almonds, coconut, golden raisins or currants.

Reagan And Romney Lead Charge

GOP Wins In 20 Governor Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans swept to victory in 20 governors' races election day with political newcomer Ronald Reagan and veteran George Romney leading the charge.

Eight Democratic-held governorships fell before the GOP surge, with the jewel in the Republican crown Reagan's one-sided triumph in California over Democratic incumbent Edmund G. Brown.

Democrats nibbled back by knocking over the Republican governors of Kansas and Maine, but over-all it was a banner day for the GOP.

Romney boosted his stock in the 1968 GOP presidential nomination sweepstakes with an easy third-term victory in Michigan over Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency. Republicans took over from the Democrats in Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Maryland, Nebraska, New Mexico and Nevada, as well as in California.

The Alabama governorship was kept in the Wallace household when Lurleen Wallace became the nation's first woman governor in 42 years. Standing in for her husband George C., who was ineligible to succeed himself, she trounced Republican Rep. James D. Martin in a race between segregationists.

Republican Spiro T. Agnew won a birthday victory in Maryland — he's 48 today — over Democrat George P. Mahoney, who alienated party liberals by campaigning with the slogan "Your home is your castle — protect it."

New York stayed in Republican hands when Nelson A. Rockefeller won a third term in a four-sided race.

In all, 35 governorships were up for grabs.

Twenty went to the Republicans and 10 to the Democrats.

In the five other races, Republicans were leading in three and Democrats in two.

In Georgia, the race between segregationist Democrat Lester G. Maddox and Republican Rep. Howard (Bo) Callaway was up in the air and might not be decided for some time.

Minnesota and Wyoming also were leaning toward Republicans. Democrats were ahead in Alaska and Hawaii.

—In Arizona, Jack Williams, mayor of Phoenix, over Democratic Gov. Samuel P. Goddard.

—In Colorado, Gov. John A. Love over Democratic Lt. Gov. Robert L. Knous.

—In Nebraska, newcomer Norbert T. Tiemann over Democratic Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen, brother of Theodore Sorensen, who was a top aide to President John F. Kennedy.

—In Nevada, Lt. Gov. Paul Laxalt, son of a Basque sheepherder, over incumbent Gov. Grant Sawyer, who was making an unprecedented third-term bid.

—In New Mexico, underdog David F. Cargo downed Democrat T. E. (Gene) Lusk.

—In Ohio, Gov. James A. Rhodes over young Toledo Democrat Frazier Reams Jr.

—In Pennsylvania, Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer over industrialist Milton J. Shapp, maverick Democrat.

—In South Dakota, Gov. Nils A. Boe won re-election over Robert Chamberlin.

Brightening the day a bit for the Democrats were the races in Maine and Kansas.

In Maine, Republican Gov. John H. Reed, who has held the office longer than any man in history — since December 1959, was ousted by Democrat Kenneth M. Curtis, aggressive young secretary of state.

In Kansas, George Docking, a banker, became the first Democratic governor since his father, the late George Docking, held the office. The loser was Republican Gov. William H. Avery.

First Of Race To State Office

Negro Seen As Winner For Pennsylvania Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Pennsylvanians on Tuesday appeared to have elected the first Negro to statewide office by placing Republican Theodore O. Spaulding of Philadelphia to a 10-year term on the state Superior Court.

Spaulding tallied 1,752,322 votes, while his GOP running mate incumbent G. Harold Watkins of Ashland, garnered 1,814,683 votes in returns from 8,752 of the state's 9,424 precincts.

On the Democratic ticket, Mrs. Juanita Kidd Stout of Philadelphia, the first Negro to be nominated by the Democratic party for statewide office, polled 1,666,343 votes, while her running mate, Clinton Budd Palmer of Easton, pulled down 1,719,101 votes.

Spaulding was seeking election after being appointed to the state's second highest court earlier this year.

Watkins, 63, was elected to a 10-year term in 1956 while he was secretary of the state Senate. Before that he had been a state senator and a Schuylkill County solicitor.

Spaulding, 64, became the first Negro ever to sit on a state wide court in Pennsylvania when Gov. William W. Scranton named him to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Gerald F. Flood. Spaulding is a past president of the Philadelphia branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and had been a Philadelphia County Court judge since 1959 and is a former assistant district attorney of Philadelphia. Palmer, who will be 51 on Nov. 16, has been Common Pleas Court judge in Northampton County since 1956 and is a former district attorney of Northampton County.

A Superior Court judge receives $33,000 a year, the president judge, $33,500.

The court is one of intermediate appeal with no original jurisdiction. Created in 1895, its cases involve constitutional points which recognized as such by the state Supreme Court may be appealed from the Superior Court to the Supreme Court as a matter of right. In most cases, however, the Superior Court decision is final within the state judicial framework.

Brightening the day a bit for the Democrats were the races in Maine and Kansas.

In Maine, Republican Gov. John H. Reed, who has held the office longer than any man in history — since December 1959, was ousted by Democrat Kenneth M. Curtis, aggressive young secretary of state.

In Kansas, George Docking, a banker, became the first Democratic governor since his father, the late George Docking, held the office. The loser was Republican Gov. William H. Avery.

First Of Race To State Office

Negro Seen As Winner For Pennsylvania Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Pennsylvanians on Tuesday appeared to have elected the first Negro to statewide office by placing Republican Theodore O. Spaulding of Philadelphia to a 10-year term on the state Superior Court.

Spaulding tallied 1,752,322 votes, while his GOP running mate incumbent G. Harold Watkins of Ashland, garnered 1,814,683 votes in returns from 8,752 of the state's 9,424 precincts.

On the Democratic ticket, Mrs. Juanita Kidd Stout of Philadelphia, the first Negro to be nominated by the Democratic party for statewide office, polled 1,666,343 votes, while her running mate, Clinton Budd Palmer of Easton, pulled down 1,719,101 votes.

Spaulding was seeking election after being appointed to the state's second highest court earlier this year.

Watkins, 63, was elected to a 10-year term in 1956 while he was secretary of the state Senate. Before that he had been a state senator and a Schuylkill County solicitor.

Spaulding, 64, became the first Negro ever to sit on a state wide court in Pennsylvania when Gov. William W. Scranton named him to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Gerald F. Flood. Spaulding is a past president of the Philadelphia branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and had been a Philadelphia County Court judge since 1959 and is a former assistant district attorney of Philadelphia. Palmer, who will be 51 on Nov. 16, has been Common Pleas Court judge in Northampton County since 1956 and is a former district attorney of Northampton County.

A Superior Court judge receives $33,000 a year, the president judge, $33,500.

The court is one of intermediate appeal with no original jurisdiction. Created in 1895, its cases involve constitutional points which recognized as such by the state Supreme Court may be appealed from the Superior Court to the Supreme Court as a matter of right. In most cases, however, the Superior Court decision is final within the state judicial framework.

Lisbon Eagles Are Honored; Senior Citizens Set Officers

LISBON — The local aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles was presented a membership citation banner by Walter Willis of Austintown, past state officer, at its meeting Monday night at the home on E. Chestnut St.

Certificates of merit also were presented officers of 1965 for the membership gain during their tenure — Richard McKee, president; Paul Crosser, secretary, and Robert Paulini, membership chairman.

Harold Dotson, president of the aerie, presided during the business meeting when donations were approved to muscular dystrophy and the county welfare Christmas fund.

A dance for members and guests Saturday from 9:30 to 12:30 was announced by Ray Morris. Music will be provided by Kenny Nicholas' orchestra.

The next family dinner night will be Nov. 17 at 6:30 at the FOE home. McKee is general chairman.

Willis, introduced by Louis Hedl, was accompanied to the meeting by Jess Romanella, organizer of the New Meander aerie; William Slaughter, president, and Mark Wilson, inside guard, all of Austintown.

The next meeting will be Monday at 8 p. m.

Officers Are Nominated

A slate of officers was presented when the Lisbon Senior Citizens Club met Monday afternoon at Democratic headquarters. It includes:

Mrs. Emerson Hively, president; Mrs. Flora Berry, vice president; Mrs. Bessie Flugan, secretary; Mrs. Ada James, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Kathryn Gunn, treasurer. Nominations from the floor added the names of Mrs. Rhoda Tucker, president, and Mrs. M. J. Freshley, treasurer.

The nominating committee was comprised of Mrs. Nanee Meehan, Mrs. Freshley and Clyde McDevitt.

The northeastern district senior citizens' dinner meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday at noon at Heck's Restaurant in Columbiana.

Plans were discussed for the Lisbon club's Christmas dinner at the First Christian Church Dec. 12 at 1 p. m., followed by a gift exchange and social hour at the Democratic headquarters.

Mrs. Meehan, sunshine chairman, was named queen for the day and was presented a corsage.

Reports were given by Mrs. Flugan, secretary, and Mrs. Fred Bott, treasurer.

Group singing of hymns, with Mrs. Hively accompanist, concluded the meeting.

Out of respect to the late Merle Burson, Mrs. Esther De Temple, president, dispersed with the social hour. Members held silent prayer and then went in a group to the Eells-Leggett Funeral home to pay their final respects.

The next meeting will be Monday at Democratic headquarters, with those working on crafts to meet at 10 a.m. and remain for the 1 p.m. meeting.

Relucant Student Needs New Plan

By LESLIE J. NASON
University Southern California

Pity the reluctant underachiever.

His parents know that he is not even trying to work up to capacity—and so do his teachers. He is out of favor with all of them!

The counselor is no comfort to him; he says that tests show the student has plenty of ability that he is not using. But the student feels he is working up to capacity and there is no use trying to do the impossible. He neither knows better methods of study nor how to use to better advantage what he does know.

In this situation counseling that is hurried, casual or trivial is of no help to the student. It merely adds to his discouragement.

It's no wonder that students often become reluctant even to hear still more suggestions for the improvement of their scholarship.

BEFORE A student will listen to any plan he must, somehow, be made to realize that it is, indeed, an approach that he has not heard before. Let me illustrate with an actual case.

His parents had tried encouragement and, at times, restrictions in their attempts to inspire Jim to better scholarship. Jim's response was negative. His parents were at their wits end.

At this point I was asked to help.

I heard his father say, "We are fortunate to get this appointment; Dr. Nason is a busy man and since it is costing me money you'd better listen to him!" I didn't catch Jim's reply, but he had a sullen, stubborn look on his face. They entered my office and chose seats on opposite sides of the room.

Reports from school which his father handed me stated that Jim was making no effort. I realized that before any progress could be made Jim must be convinced not only that he could succeed in school but that the conflict at home could also be eliminated.

I started the conversation by reviewing case histories of high school students who had been in similar situations and how, with well - planned study and test-taking procedures, they had solved their problems.

I suggested to the father that from this point on Jim and I would be responsible for his success or failure in school.

Since he and Jim's mother would not now be concerned with his frustration in school, home could again be a happy place for all concerned. The parents were to remove any restrictions that may have been imposed because of Jim's low grades in school. Mr. K. gave his immediate approval and left Jim and me together to lay plans for our part of the program.

JIM WAS just getting started in trigonometry, and a test was to be given in three days. We set up a study plan for the mastery of the essentials of the subject.

I explained that trigonometry, being an invention, the basic ideas must be learned so well that their recall takes no effort. They cannot be "reasoned out" at examination time.

To help fix these ideas in his mind, he was to work one or two problems of each type, starting at the beginning of the textbook.

He was to practice writing all of the steps of each solution since this would give him time-advantage on the examination.

It is faster to write all the steps than to try to do some of them in his head.

Just before the test he was to make a last-minute review of his list of problems.

Jim was to think, "What is the key in the way this question is asked that tells me how the problem is to be solved?"

On entering the test he was to put his full attention on the first problem, deciding what kind of a problem it was then write out the solution neatly and completely.

He was to work rapidly enough to keep his mind completely centered on each problem in turn. Having completed the test, he would go back and give his full attention to a search for errors in arithmetic.

On his next visit Jim reported a better than usual score on the math test. He was now ready and willing to continue the planning that would lead to his becoming a good all 'round student.

His reluctance had disappeared!

During Voting In Hancock County

Moore, Tsapis, Griffith, Nogay And Nalley Victors

Hancock County voters, turning out in large numbers in the general election Tuesday despite inclement weather, helped decide winners in seven races plus a district contest.

Democratic candidates for the most part carried the day, no surprise since that party's registrants outnumbered Republicans 14,544 to 6,894, according to pre - election figures released by the voter registration office in New Cumberland.

One notable exception was the victory scored by popular Arch A. Moore Jr., Moundsville Republican, elected to a sixth term in Congress as a representative of the 13-county 1st District.

He won handily over William M. Kidd, Democrat of Sutton. The Hancock vote, according to the unofficial count, was:

Moore	8,531
Kidd	3,103

Jennings Randolph, incumbent Democrat of Elkins, was given the green light for another term in the U. S. Senate. His opponent was Francis J. Love, Republican of Wheeling, a former congressman.

The unofficial Hancock vote showed:

Randolph	7,284
Love	4,037

West Virginia Secretary Robert Bailey, Democrat of Pineville, an appointee, won a bid for an unexpired term against John S. Callebs, Republican of Huntington.

The Hancock tally was:

Bailey	6,444
Callebs	4,281

Also on the state ticket, Chester R. Hubbard, Republican of Wheeling, was denied another term in the senate, being defeated by another Wheeling candidate, John L. Seabright, Democrat.

The Hancock vote was:

Seabright	6,543
Hubbard	4,432

In county races, Democrats George G. Griffith and Miss Callie Tsapis, both of Weirton, were elected as members of the House of Delegates. They won over Republicans John D. Herron of New Cumberland and Ernest John of Chester.

The tabulation showed:

Tsapis	6,296
Griffith	5,709
Herron	3,926
John	3,739

Edward Nogay, another Weirton Democrat, was elected to the post of Hancock County commissioner to succeed James Finley, retiring court president. His opponent was Rudy Kusic, Republican of Weirton.

The count was:

Nogay	6,811
Kusic	4,192

In another Republican victory, Lloyd Nalley Jr. of Newell won his bid to fill the unexpired term of the late Harry Lytton of Newell as Grant District Justice of the Peace. He faced Julian C. Wilson, Democrat of New Cumberland.

The vote showed:

Nalley	1,481
Wilson	1,088

The county voters backed ratification of three of five statewide amendments — constitutional improvement, judicial circuit and better schools. Rejected were the governor's succession and legislative amendments.

Balloting was as follows:

Constitutional Improvement

Assured Of Senate, Lead In House

Ohio Republicans Carry Sweep Into Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republicans carried their sweep of statewide offices into the newly apportioned legislature in Tuesday's election, assuring themselves control of the 33-member Senate and taking a big lead in the race for control of the House.

Incomplete results showed 17 Republicans elected to the upper chamber to only four for Democrats with 12 races still to be decided. GOP victories included Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray of Piqua who figures to retain his leadership post at the session convening Jan. 2.

Partial results of races for 99 House seats showed Republican way out front by a margin of nearly three to one. They had claimed 24 seats while Democrats had nailed down only nine.

Rep. Robert F. Reckman, R-Hamilton, who became acting House Speaker after former Speaker Roger Cloud was named auditor, piled up a big margin over his Democratic opponent, Stephen M.D. Burns of Cincinnati. Reckman is expected to be named speaker.

The Democratic leaders of both houses survived the Republican onslaught but Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King of Toledo had a close call. His aides said he was an 853-vote winner over his GOP opponent, William K. Gernheuser.

House Minority Leader A.G. Lancione of Bellaire had a comfortable margin over Republican James W. Russell, also of Bellaire.

Republican incumbents joining Gray in the 107th General Assembly include Sens. Tennyson Guyer, Findlay; Michael J. Maloney, Cincinnati; Max Dennis, Wilmington; Robin Truner, Tiffin; Robert R. Shaw, Columbus, and Oakley C. Collins, Ironton.

Two Senate races pitted incumbents against each other with each part winning one. Collins defeated Democratic Sen. Charles L. Pancake in the new 18th District. Sen. Oliver Ocasek of Akron beat GOP Sen. Ed Garrigan in the 27th. King, Ocasek, and Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown were the only Democratic incumbents re-elected among early reports from county courthouses. Joining them were Rep. Bishop Kilpatrick of Warren, veteran member of both houses and one of the oldest of either chamber in point of service.

At least four Republican House members were successful in bids to move up to the upper chamber. They were Reps. Walter Powell of Fairfield, who defeated Democratic Rep. Harold Romer of Coldwater; Clara Weisenborn, Dayton, Harry Jump, Willard, and Harry L. Armstrong, Logan.

Also winning seats were GOP newcomers Howard C. Cook of Toledo, David S. Holcomb of Dayton, and James K. Leady of Wooster.

Democratic Rep. Jerry O'Shaughnessy of Columbus was successful, by a slight margin, in a bid to move to the Senate. He defeated John Bowen of Columbus by 150 votes.

Only one Democratic newcomer was successful. That race was in Cincinnati where Calvin C. Johnson defeated Joseph H. Fulton.

Marked Shift Of Negro Voters

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — The white backlash and a counter to it — a marked shift of Negro voters to moderates on the racial question — figured heavily in the elections in seven states and possibly two others.

In the races in California, Illinois, Florida and Alabama, the backlash appeared to have been a major factor. Three of these were won by Republicans and the other by a Democrat, segregationist Lurleen Wallace, wife of Gov. George C. Wallace.

The backlash was thought to be an element in the overwhelming vote in New York City to abolish the civilian-dominated police complaint review board. Civil rights leaders and the major candidates had supported the review board.

But the "counter-lash" was clearly apparent in Maryland where Republican Spiro T. Agnew won the governorship over Democrat George P. Mahoney who had campaigned on the slogan, "Your home is your castle — protect it."

In Georgia, segregationist Lester G. Maddox fell behind Republican Howard (Bo) Callaway, who had moved toward moderation.

These statistical analyses across the nation were provided by the National Broadcasting Company Electronic Vote Analysis — EVA. EVA compared Tuesday's votes in selected precincts to the votes there in previous elections.

Around the country —

CALIFORNIA

In defeating Democrat Edmund G. Brown for governor, former actor Ronald Reagan won 64 per cent of the white vote compared with the 52 per cent that went to Richard M. Nixon in 1962 when he lost to Brown.

Brown's share of the votes in the Los Angeles area dropped from 52.5 in 1962 to 36.6 Tuesday. Watts, a section of Los Angeles, saw serious Negro riots two years ago.

Brown also lost ground among Latin-American voters, many of whom are resentful of Negro civil rights gains. He received 8 per cent fewer votes from them.

Conversely, Negroes gave Brown 96 per cent of their votes, three points more than in 1962.

ILLINOIS

EVA figures showed Republican Charles H. Percy, victor over Sen. Paul H. Douglas, receiving increased support over GOP figures for 1960 in selected socio-economic groups of voters.

Percy took 73 per cent of the high-income group, a gain of two points. In the middle-income group, he won 57 per cent, a gain of 16 points. Slavic voters gave him 46 per cent, 18 more than the GOP total in 1960. He showed smaller gains among Italian and Jewish voters and his labor vote was 11 per cent above the Republican figure for 1960.

At a late hour, EVA had not yet compiled a breakdown of white and Negro votes.

FLORIDA

Civil rights demonstrations and disorders involving Negroes in a number of Florida cities probably helped Republican Claude Kirk over Democrat Robert King High in the Florida gubernatorial election.

Across the state, High received only 38 per cent of the white vote compared with the 54 per cent won by retiring Democratic Gov. Haydon Burns in 1962. Kirk, the first Republican to win the governorship since 1872 — the era of Reconstruction after the Civil War — upped the GOP share of the white vote from 46 per cent four years ago to 62 per cent.

dence of it during his campaign. He defeated Endicott Peabody, a former governor and a Democrat, for the Senate seat being vacated by Leverett Saltonstall. Peabody also championed Negro rights.

ALABAMA

Lurleen Wallace's election to succeed her husband as governor of Georgia may have set the stage for him to re-enter the presidential picture in 1968 as a segregationsit champion.

In 1964, Wallace entered primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland and received a combined total of more than 500,000 votes.

Negroes gave High, mayor of Miami, 93 per cent of their vote, 8 per cent more than Burns had received.

MARYLAND

EVA figures showed that 94 per cent of the Negro voters supported Republican Spiro T. Agnew in his victory over George Mahoney for governor. That was an increase of 54 per cent since the previous gubernatorial election. This was probably the biggest voter-shift in any election in the country.

GEORGIA

Maddox, who described himself as the "segregationist of all time," held a 2-to-1 lead over Callaway in the early returns. But then the Republican gubernatorial candidate began gaining and at an early hour today went into the lead.

Callaway also is a segregationist but is considered more moderate than Maddox. The Democratic candidate attracted wide attention when he closed his restaurant rather than serve Negroes two years ago.

MASSACHUSETTS

The question of whether a backlash ever existed in Massachusetts was never clear, although some qualified political observers in the state said the issue was there.

However, Atty. Gen. Edward M. Brooke, a Negro and a Republican, said he found no evi-

Area Man Begins His Term In Pen

LISBON — Charles E. Hall, 19, of Wellsville R. D. was taken to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield this morning to begin serving two sentences.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard last Thursday denied his plea for probation and sentenced him to 1 to 7 years for the theft of a $450 mink stole and 1 to 5 years for escaping from the Wellsville jail last Dec. 1. The judge said the sentences may be served concurrently.

Hall's case did not go through the grand jury. He waived that right June 14 and pleaded guilty to information presented by the prosecuting attorney.

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — The white backlash and a counter to it — a marked shift of Negro voters to moderates on the racial question — figured heavily in the elections in seven states and possibly two others.

In the races in California, Illinois, Florida and Alabama, the backlash appeared to have been a major factor. Three of these were won by Republicans and the other by a Democrat, segregationist Lurleen Wallace, wife of Gov. George C. Wallace.

The backlash was thought to be an element in the overwhelming vote in New York City to abolish the civilian-dominated police complaint review board. Civil rights leaders and the major candidates had supported the review board.

But the "counter-lash" was clearly apparent in Maryland where Republican Spiro T. Agnew won the governorship over Democrat George P. Mahoney who had campaigned on the slogan, "Your home is your castle — protect it."

In Georgia, segregationist Lester G. Maddox fell behind Republican Howard (Bo) Callaway, who had moved toward moderation.

These statistical analyses across the nation were provided by the National Broadcasting Company Electronic Vote Analysis — EVA. EVA compared Tuesday's votes in selected precincts to the votes there in previous elections.

Around the country —

CALIFORNIA

In defeating Democrat Edmund G. Brown for governor, former actor Ronald Reagan won 64 per cent of the white vote compared with the 52 per cent that went to Richard M. Nixon in 1962 when he lost to Brown.

Brown's share of the votes in the Los Angeles area dropped from 52.5 in 1962 to 36.6 Tuesday. Watts, a section of Los Angeles, saw serious Negro riots two years ago.

Brown also lost ground among Latin-American voters, many of whom are resentful of Negro civil rights gains. He received 8 per cent fewer votes from them.

Conversely, Negroes gave Brown 96 per cent of their votes, three points more than in 1962.

ILLINOIS

EVA figures showed Republican Charles H. Percy, victor over Sen. Paul H. Douglas, receiving increased support over GOP figures for 1960 in selected socio-economic groups of voters.

Percy took 73 per cent of the high-income group, a gain of two points. In the middle-income group, he won 57 per cent, a gain of 16 points. Slavic voters gave him 46 per cent, 18 more than the GOP total in 1960. He showed smaller gains among Italian and Jewish voters and his labor vote was 11 per cent above the Republican figure for 1960.

At a late hour, EVA had not yet compiled a breakdown of white and Negro votes.

FLORIDA

Civil rights demonstrations and disorders involving Negroes in a number of Florida cities probably helped Republican Claude Kirk over Democrat Robert King High in the Florida gubernatorial election.

Across the state, High received only 38 per cent of the white vote compared with the 54 per cent won by retiring Democratic Gov. Haydon Burns in 1962. Kirk, the first Republican to win the governorship since 1872 — the era of Reconstruction after the Civil War — upped the GOP share of the white vote from 46 per cent four years ago to 62 per cent.

dence of it during his campaign. He defeated Endicott Peabody, a former governor and a Democrat, for the Senate seat being vacated by Leverett Saltonstall. Peabody also championed Negro rights.

ALABAMA

Lurleen Wallace's election to succeed her husband as governor of Georgia may have set the stage for him to re-enter the presidential picture in 1968 as a segregationist champion.

In 1964, Wallace entered primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland and received a combined total of more than 500,000 votes.

Negroes gave High, mayor of Miami, 93 per cent of their vote, 8 per cent more than Burns had received.

MARYLAND

EVA figures showed that 94 per cent of the Negro voters supported Republican Spiro T. Agnew in his victory over George Mahoney for governor. That was an increase of 54 per cent since the previous gubernatorial election. This was probably the biggest voter-shift in any election in the country.

GEORGIA

Maddox, who described himself as the "segregationist of all time," held a 2-to-1 lead over Callaway in the early returns. But then the Republican gubernatorial candidate began gaining and at an early hour today went into the lead.

Callaway also is a segregationist but is considered more moderate than Maddox. The Democratic candidate attracted wide attention when he closed his restaurant rather than serve Negroes two years ago.

MASSACHUSETTS

The question of whether a backlash ever existed in Massachusetts was never clear, although some qualified political observers in the state said the issue was there.

However, Atty. Gen. Edward M. Brooke, a Negro and a Republican, said he found no evi-

Area Man Begins His Term In Pen

LISBON — Charles E. Hall, 19, of Wellsville R. D. was taken to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield this morning to begin serving two sentences.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard last Thursday denied his plea for probation and sentenced him to 1 to 7 years for the theft of a $450 mink stole and 1 to 5 years for escaping from the Wellsville jail last Dec. 1. The judge said the sentences may be served concurrently.

Hall's case did not go through the grand jury. He waived that right June 14 and pleaded guilty to information presented by the prosecuting attorney.

How Can I?

Q.—How can I clean leather and nylon upholstery in my car?

A.—Whip up a solution of detregent and ammonia, and using just the suds and a clean cloth or brush go over the upholstery with this. Finish off by wiping with another cloth rinsed out of clear water. Usually does a first-rate job.

Assured Of Senate, Lead In House

Ohio Republicans Carry Sweep Into Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republicans carried their sweep of statewide offices into the newly apportioned legislature in Tuesday's election, assuring themselves control of the 33-member Senate and taking a big lead in the race for control of the House.

Incomplete results showed 17 Republicans elected to the upper chamber to only four for Democrats with 12 races still to be decided. GOP victories included Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray of Piqua who figures to retain his leadership post at the session convening Jan. 2.

Partial results of races for 99 House seats showed Republican way out front by a margin of nearly three to one. They had claimed 24 seats while Democrats had nailed down only nine.

Rep. Robert F. Reckman, R-Hamilton, who became acting House Speaker after former Speaker Roger Cloud was named auditor, piled up a big margin over his Democratic opponent, Stephen M.D. Burns of Cincinnati. Reckman is expected to be named speaker.

The Democratic leaders of both houses survived the Republican onslaught but Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King of Toledo had a close call. His aides said he was an 853-vote winner over his GOP opponent, William K. Gernheuser.

House Minority Leader A.G. Lancione of Bellaire had a comfortable margin over Republican James W. Russell, also of Bellaire.

Republican incumbents joining Gray in the 107th General Assembly include Sens. Tennyson Guyer, Findlay; Michael J. Maloney, Cincinnati; Max Dennis, Wilmington; Robin Truner, Tiffin; Robert R. Shaw, Columbus, and Oakley C. Collins, Ironton.

Two Senate races pitted incumbents against each other with each part winning one. Collins defeated Democratic Sen. Charles L. Pancake in the new 18th District. Sen. Oliver Ocasek of Akron beat GOP Sen. Ed Garrigan in the 27th. King, Ocasek, and Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown were the only Democratic incumbents re-elected among early reports from county courthouses. Joining them were Rep. Bishop Kilpatrick of Warren, veteran member of both houses and one of the oldest of either chamber in point of service.

At least four Republican House members were successful in bids to move up to the upper chamber. They were Reps. Walter Powell of Fairfield, who defeated Democratic Rep. Harold Romer of Coldwater; Clara Weisenborn, Dayton, Harry Jump, Willard, and Harry L. Armstrong, Logan.

Also winning seats were GOP newcomers Howard C. Cook of Toledo, David S. Holcomb of Dayton, and James K. Leady of Wooster.

Democratic Rep. Jerry O'Shaughnessy of Columbus was successful, by a slight margin, in a bid to move to the Senate. He defeated John Bowen of Columbus by 150 votes.

Only one Democratic newcomer was successful. That race was in Cincinnati where Calvin C. Johnson defeated Joseph H. Fulton.

Republicans Dominate Delegation

By BYRON ROSEN
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Republican tide has swept into Washington a GOP - dominated Ohio congressional delegation featuring four new faces and apparently a familiar one in a new political life.

Three Democratic congressmen who rode President Johnson's sweep to victory two years ago were ousted by Republicans, riding a GOP landslide led by Gov. James A. Rhodes to a 19-5 majority in the Buckeye congressional ranks. The edge had been 14-10.

The last race to be decided was the victory of Robert Taft Jr. in the 1st District over freshman Democratic Rep. John J. Gilligan of Cincinnati.

The GOP also won in two new districts.

Just two years ago Taft thought he had won a seat in the U.S. Senate but he narrowly lost in the final count.

Gilligan made a surprisingly strong stand in the face of the Republican trend and kept Taft's comeback bid in doubt until well into the predawn hours.

The son of the late Mr. Republican left his congressman-at-large seat to run for the U.S. Senate in 1964, only to fall an upset victim to Sen. Stephen M. Young who profited from the Johnson runaway.

Meanwhile, State Sen. Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Dayton knocked off Democratic Rep. Rodney M. Love in the 3rd District; former Lancaster mayor Clarence E. Miller whipped Democratic Rep. Walter H. Moeller in the 10th; and Chalmers P. Wylie and Donald P. (Buz) Lukens scored GOP triumphs in the new 15th and 24th.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, who helped guide civil rights legislation through Congress, defeated Lima attorney Robert H. Mihlbaugh a second straight time. And Whalen, who last year guided an open housing bill to passage in the legislature, beat Love in Montgomery County, scene of the Dayton racial disturbances last summer.

In some districts, it looked as though voters marked their X's alongside familiar names by habit, or hidebound political tint, as much as anything else. It was the only saving factor for the Democrats at all.

East-northeast Ohio "unbeatables" Wayne L. Hays, Michael J. Kirwan, Michael A. Feighan and Charles A. Vanik, and Thomas Ashley of the Toledo area extended their long tenure as Democratic congressmen without difficulty.

It meant defeat for Rep. Robert T. Secrest, whose old district was broken up and incorporated in other ones. He moved into the 17th District where he took on Rep. John M. Ashbrook, who carries a "very conservative" label, prevailed.

It also provided Rep. Samuel L. Devine, an easy re-election winner, a fellow Franklin County Republican in the House —Wylie.

And it put Lukens, the former National Young Republicans president, into the House in place of Rep. Robert E. Sweeney. The 24th District replaced Sweeney's at-large constituency.

Among GOP incumbents, Mrs. Frances P. Bolton, 81, won her 14th full term but got a stiff fight from Anthony O. Calabrese of Cleveland—50 years her junior.

She is dean of the Republican delegation which finds McCulloch heading into his 10th term, Jackson R. Betts of Findlay into his 9th along with William H. Ayres of Akron and Frank T. Bow of Canton; William E. Minshall of Lakewood his 7th; William H. Harsha of Portsmouth, Donald D. Clancy of Cincinnati, Charles A. Mosher of Oberlin and Ashbrook their 4th; J. William Stanton of Ashtabula his 2nd, and Clarence J. Brown—who ran unopposed—his first full term after succeeding his deceased father in a special 1965 election.

Among the Democrats, this will be term No. 13 for Feighan, No. 10 for Hays, and No. 7 for Vanik and Ashley.

Two Madison Levies Beaten

The operating levy was turned back by a 2-to-1 margin:

For	167
Against	359

For	152
Against	363

It was reported two snow tires and 20 sections of snow fence are to be purchased. Details on parking restrictions on roads are to be completed at the next meeting Nov. 22.

Chamber Names 2 To Industrial Unit In Midland

Paul McGeehan and Wilbert Basinger were named to the Midland area Industrial Development Committee, when the Midland Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday night. Others on the committee are Earl R. Rankin, chairman; Fred G. Wilton and Anthony Martell.

Martell reported that the committee met Oct. 29 with the Beaver County Development Committee.

The retail committee will hold a Christmas sales promotion consisting of weekly drawings and a special Christmas drawing. Anyone shopping and purchasing in Midland will receive tickets from stores to qualify for the drawings. The event has been set to begin as soon as the tickets can be distributed.

The marching band of Lincoln High School, Western Beaver High School, and South Side High School will participate in the annual Chamber Christmas parade Nov. 26 at 1 p.m.

Organizations in Midland have been requested to help with the Christmas lighting project. The cleaning of lights begins Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at Old Martell Building. The Chamber requests community help with the project.

Lester W. Smith, Jr., president, said, "ballots have been mailed to members to vote for directors." The deadline for returning ballots to Chamber headquarters at the McGeehan Agency is Nov. 30. The election results will be announced at the Dec. 14 meeting.

The retail committee has asked that all merchants close their stores during the hours of the Beaver County American Legion Veterans Day parade on Friday.

Republicans Dominate Delegation

By BYRON ROSEN
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Republican tide has swept into Washington a GOP - dominated Ohio congressional delegation featuring four new faces and apparently a familiar one in a new political life.

Three Democratic congressmen who rode President Johnson's sweep to victory two years ago were ousted by Republicans, riding a GOP landslide led by Gov. James A. Rhodes to a 19-5 majority in the Buckeye congressional ranks. The edge had been 14-10.

The last race to be decided was the victory of Robert Taft Jr. in the 1st District over freshman Democratic Rep. John J. Gilligan of Cincinnati.

The GOP also won in two new districts.

Just two years ago Taft thought he had won a seat in the U.S. Senate but he narrowly lost in the final count.

Gilligan made a surprisingly strong stand in the face of the Republican trend and kept Taft's comeback bid in doubt until well into the predawn hours.

Taft's political life may have hinged on the outcome.

The son of the late Mr. Republican left his congressman-at-large seat to run for the U.S. Senate in 1964, only to fall an upset victim to Sen. Stephen M. Young who profited from the Johnson runaway.

Meanwhile, State Sen. Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Dayton knocked off Democratic Rep. Rodney M. Love in the 3rd District; former Lancaster mayor Clarence E. Miller whipped Democratic Rep. Walter H. Moeller in the 10th; and Chalmers P. Wylie and Donald P. (Buz) Lukens scored GOP triumphs in the new 15th and 24th.

But the so-called white backlash against civil rights activities apparently had little effect in Ohio.

Rep. William M. McCulloch, who helped guide civil rights legislation through Congress, defeated Lima attorney Robert H. Mihlbaugh a second straight time. And Whalen, who last year guided an open housing bill to passage in the legislature, beat Love in Montgomery County, scene of the Dayton racial disturbances last summer.

In some districts, it looked as though voters marked their X's alongside familiar names by habit, or hidebound political tint, as much as anything else. It was the only saving factor for the Democrats at all.

East-northeast Ohio "unbeatables" Wayne L. Hays, Michael J. Kirwan, Michael A. Feighan and Charles A. Vanik, and Thomas Ashley of the Toledo area extended their long tenure as Democratic congressmen without difficulty.

It meant defeat for Rep. Robert T. Secrest, whose old district was broken up and incorporated in other ones. He moved into the 17th District where he took on Rep. John M. Ashbrook, who carries a "very conservative" label, prevailed.

It also provided Rep. Samuel L. Devine, an easy re-election winner, a fellow Franklin County Republican in the House —Wylie.

And it put Lukens, the former National Young Republicans president, into the House in place of Rep. Robert E. Sweeney. The 24th District replaced Sweeney's at-large constituency.

Among GOP incumbents, Mrs. Frances P. Bolton, 81, won her 14th full term but got a stiff fight from Anthony O. Calabrese of Cleveland—50 years her junior.

She is dean of the Republican delegation which finds McCulloch heading into his 10th term, Jackson R. Betts of Findlay into his 9th along with William H. Ayres of Akron and Frank T. Bow of Canton; William E. Minshall of Lakewood his 7th; William H. Harsha of Portsmouth, Donald D. Clancy of Cincinnati, Charles A. Mosher of Oberlin and Ashbrook their 4th; J. William Stanton of Ashtabula his 2nd, and Clarence J. Brown—who ran unopposed—his first full term after succeeding his deceased father in a special 1965 election.

Among the Democrats, this will be term No. 13 for Feighan, No. 10 for Hays, and No. 7 for Vanik and Ashley.

Wilt Chamberlain set a National Basketball Association record when he registered with 28 foul shots in a game against the New York Knicks in Hershey, Pa., on March 2, 1962.

Two Madison Levies Beaten

A proposed 2-mill Madison Township operating levy and a proposed township police levy were rejected by voters in Tuesday's election, according to complete but unofficial returns.

The operating levy was turned back by a 2-to-1 margin:

For	167
Against	359

The breakdown of the voting was: Brick Church—110 against, 59 for; Saddle Club — 115 against, 60 for, and West Point —134 against and 48 for.

The proposed 1-mill police levy was defeated by a similar margin:

For	152
Against	363

The breakdown was: Brick Church — 115 against, 55 for; Saddle Club — 114 against and 64 for, and West Point — 134 against and 33 for.

At a meeting of township trustees Tuesday night, George Madison, president, appealed to township residents to attend meetings to suggest solutions to the financial problems.

It was reported two snow tires and 20 sections of snow fence are to be purchased. Details on parking restrictions on roads are to be completed at the next meeting Nov. 22.

Complaints were heard on the misuse of roads by truck drivers.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Have you ever found it inconvenient to air throw pillows?

Try buying white open-mesh by the yard, and make large sacks or pillow slips big enough for a pillow or two. Then hang the sacks on a line and toss the pillows inside. The air can get through to the pillows easily.

CALLIE HUTCHENS.

One could buy cheesecloth (less than 20 cents a yard and very wide) at the hardware or department store, or you could — and I hesitate to mention it! —buy nylon net!

The material has such an open weave that the air could circulate perfectly.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I discovered that my lint roller is the perfect thing to roll along a let out or cut seam with lots of short threads that need to be picked out.

DEAR HELOISE: While cleaning out my kitchen cabinets last week, I discovered a wonderful new idea for that one-in-every-kitchen catch all-drawer.

During the summer months, I save those nice, wooden strawberry boxes—then in the winter, I just throw them away!

Now I have an organized drawer with everything in its place, and within sight and easy reach.

NADEAN CARTER.

DEAR HELOISE: I now turn men's and boys' pants wrong side out before putting them in the dryer.

The pockets dry much faster, whereas they used to be the last part of the pants to get dry.

DEAR HELOISE: When using spray paint on small objects, put them in a large paper bag, laid open on its side, and you can safely spray the item without getting paint on half a dozen other things.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV Needs Herb Shriner

With all of these hayseed characterizations going over so big on TV like Gomer Pyle, Beverly Hillbillies, Andy Griffith and the rest, it makes no sense for Hoosier Herb Shriner not to be in there among them somewhere.

Hal Humphrey

Ask him why this is and Herb ducks his head, grins, kicks at the carpet and says, "Heck!" Then you wait five minutes, and after a "Shucks!" and one more "Heck!" Herb tells you he's been offered TV series portraying both David Harum and Mr. Deeds, but turned them down.

IRVING PINCUS, the suave impresario who put together that successful pot of corn called "Real McCoys" with Walter Brennan and Dick Crenna, even laid siege to Herb. But Irving got worn out between "Hecks!" and gave up.

Herb's trouble, if it can be called that, is that he doesn't want to be a hokey showbusinessy Hoosier, but a real one. He believes he knows better what small-town people are like than some sport from Hollywood.

"I guess you'd call me a real Americana buff," says Herb, running off at the mouth again. "I like country stores, steam trains and people who collect things.

"Don't get me wrong now. I've got nothing against situation comedy, but I—well, I liked Mr. Peepers fine. I'd kind of like to just move in and out of the stories."

WAY BACK IN 1951 Herb had a series like that where he was the observer and commentator for small-town vignettes. It was on ABC, which at that time couldn't clear more than 35 stations simultaneously, so the series died from sponsoritis.

It was an easy, entertaining show and Herb tried unsuccessfully to revive it. Later he became the master of ceremonies on a game show ("Two for the Money") which the late Fred Allen was scheduled to have but had to give up because of his health.

One hilarious bit of business which Herb used to do on that old ABC show was what he called his "movie spot." It was a collection of wild film shots which he put together himself and made droll remarks about as it was reeled off.

"I'M DOING one of them on Andy Williams' show Nov. 13. It's called 'Back Home in Indiana,' but I don't know if you'll see much of Indiana. I guess you could say it's my monologue with illustrations," says Herb.

Except for occasional guest appearances like this one with Williams next Sunday, Herb usually is touring the country in his big land cruiser, making speeches at colleges, entertaining conventioneers and looking up inventors.

"There's a fella name of Al Starts in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., I want to see. He's got a homemade submarine I want to take some pictures of. People like this call me because I'm always ready to listen — and maybe come up with a buck or two for some scheme they got.

"I'm mixing with a group now which wants to bring back dirigibles, and that's mighty interesting," allows Herb.

WHENEVER he starts out on one of these hegiras, Herb's wife, Pixie, gets nervous—not over his safety, but what he will bring back with him. An 800 - pound "violin machine" presently is anchored in the Shriner living room, and since it was assembled there by the inventor who gave it to Herb it is as permanent as the Rock of Gibralter.

"Well, it's a kind of long story," says Herb. "This fellow, see, knew I was interested and he brought it to the house about midnight one night and put it all together. It's a real violin, and you should hear it play the 'Second Hungarian Rhapsody' all by itself."

Herb has promised his wife he won't bring back a dirigible or that home-made submarine, but she never knows when she may look out the front window and see a balloon going up.

"Haven't you ever seen a home-made balloon ascension?" asks Herb, with pity in his voice for any such disenfranchised soul. "There's nothing better!"

Pickets Picket Paper In Toledo's Strike

That, in essence, was the situation today, when the Toledo Record was scheduled to begin publication as an interim newspaper during a strike which has idled the Toledo Blade and the morning Times.

The Teamsters Union, however, posted 35 pickets Tuesday night at the printing plant where the newspaper unions plan to print the Record. The Teamsters said they did not want the newspaper strike prolonged and publication of a strike newspaper would tend to prolong it.

Little progress in negotiations has been reported since the printers and Newspaper Guild unions first walked out Oct. 24.

In Dayton, a mediation session is scheduled Thursday in a dispute between pressmen and Dayton Newspapers, Inc., in a strike which has closed the Dayton Daily News and Journal Herald.

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV Needs Herb Shriner

With all of these hayseed characterizations going over so big on TV like Gomer Pyle, Beverly Hillbillies, Andy Griffith and the rest, it makes no sense for Hoosier Herb Shriner not to be in there among them somewhere.

Hal Humphrey

Ask him why this is and Herb ducks his head, grins, kicks at the carpet and says, "Heck!" Then you wait five minutes, and after a "Shucks!" and one more "Heck!" Herb tells you he's been offered TV series portraying both David Harum and Mr. Deeds, but turned them down.

IRVING PINCUS, the suave impresario who put together that successful pot of corn called "Real McCoys" with Walter Brennan and Dick Crenna, even laid siege to Herb. But Irving got worn out between "Hecks!" and gave up.

Herb's trouble, if it can be called that, is that he doesn't want to be a hokey show-businessy Hoosier, but a real one. He believes he knows better what small-town people are like than some sport from Hollywood.

"I guess you'd call me a real Americana buff," says Herb, running off at the mouth again. "I like country stores, steam trains and people who collect things.

"Don't get me wrong now. I've got nothing against situation comedy, but I—well, I liked Mr. Peepers fine. I'd kind of like to just move in and out of the stories."

WAY BACK IN 1951 Herb had a series like that where he was the observer and commentator for small-town vignettes. It was on ABC, which at that time couldn't clear more than 35 stations simultaneously, so the series died from sponsoritis.

It was an easy, entertaining show and Herb tried unsuccessfully to revive it. Later he became the master of ceremonies on a game show ("Two for the Money") which the late Fred Allen was scheduled to have but had to give up because of his health.

One hilarious bit of business which Herb used to do on that old ABC show was what he called his "movie spot." It was a collection of wild film shots which he put together himself and made droll remarks about as it was reeled off.

"I'M DOING one of them on Andy Williams' show Nov. 13. It's called 'Back Home in Indiana,' but I don't know if you'll see much of Indiana. I guess you could say it's my monologue with illustrations," says Herb.

Except for occasional guest appearances like this one with Williams next Sunday, Herb usually is touring the country in his big land cruiser, making speeches at colleges, entertaining conventioneers and looking up inventors.

"There's a fella name of Al Starts in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., I want to see. He's got a home-made submarine I want to take some pictures of. People like this call me because I'm always ready to listen — and maybe come up with a buck or two for some scheme they got.

"I'm mixing with a group now which wants to bring back dirigibles, and that's mighty interesting," allows Herb.

WHENEVER he starts out on one of these hegiras, Herb's wife, Pixie, gets nervous—not over his safety, but what he will bring back with him. An 800 - pound "violin machine" presently is anchored in the Shriner living room, and since it was assembled there by the inventor who gave it to Herb it is as permanent as the Rock of Gibralter.

"Well, it's a kind of long story," says Herb. "This fellow, see, knew I was interested and he brought it to the house about midnight one night and put it all together. It's a real violin, and you should hear it play the 'Second Hungarian Rhapsody' all by itself."

Herb has promised his wife he won't bring back a dirigible or that home-made submarine, but she never knows when she may look out the front window and see a balloon going up.

"Haven't you ever seen a home-made balloon ascension?" asks Herb, with pity in his voice for any such disenfranchised soul. "There's nothing better!"

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I read a letter in your column from a mother who was worried about her soldier son. The mother had not heard from him in several weeks and she telephoned his girl friend to learn if she had heard anything.

My sister had a similar problem. Her oldest boy joined the Marines. She had not received a letter from him in more than three months. Although he was not in a foreign country she was terribly worried that perhaps he was ill or that he had had an accident. So she wrote to her congressman. The congressman responded as follows:

"Dear Mrs. ZM: Our office has contacted your son's commanding officer. We have been informed he was discharged four weeks ago."

What kind of lousy government is it that doesn't even let a mother know when her son is being discharged from the service? Please answer me in the newspaper. I want the whole world to see it. — THOROUGHLY DISGUSTED CITIZEN.

Dear Citizen: What kind of lousy son would be discharged from the service for four weeks and not let his mother know? Please answer me so I can print your reply in the newspaper. I'd like the whole world to see it.

Joke Thief

Dear Ann: My husband has requested that I write to you about something that has him so burned up his hand is not steady enough to hold a pen.

It so happens my husband is a very good speaker and is called on often to be the master of ceremonies at civic and fraternal affairs. A couple of months ago he was the main speaker at a small club dinner —quite private. He was in top form and told some extremely funny stories. Everyone said he was terrific.

Last night he was the featured speaker at an important dinner, one he had been planning on for many months. The man who introduced him had attended the small club dinner and apparently he had written down my husband's jokes because he used every one of them before my husband got up to speak.

It was a nightmare. My husband couldn't think of anything to say and he had no time to come up with new stories. He really was a horrible flop. Today he is depressed and furious.

What is your opinion of a person who would pull such a dirty trick? What can a creative person do to protect himself against this sort of dishonesty? — SYMPATHETIC WIFE.

Dear Wife: If I knew of a way to stop idea thieves I'd use it myself.

A writer is virtually helpless unless he can prove plagiarism, which is not easy. A speaker always can have some spare anecdotes up his sleeve — and he'd better have them for just such emergencies as you described.

Confidentially

TO A COUNSELOR WHO NEEDS COUNSELING: It doesn't necessarily follow that a person who has knowledge and training will apply it to his own life. (Witness the number of physicians who are grossly overweight, and smoke and drink excessively.)

I know of no substitute for self-acceptance and self-discipline. Discuss your true feelings with someone who can guide you. You were a human being before you were a counselor.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Post Hears Plea On Membership

The American Legion 10th District is in last place in the James Cregar, district first vice commander, reported when Post 374 met Monday night in the post home.

Cregar said memberships will be picked up in Canton when the 40 and 8 meets on Nov. 13. All members were asked to sign up by that date.

Francis Nolan was accepted as a new member and Rudy Jasnic was initiated into the Legion by John Long, past commander.

First Vice Comdr. Densel McKinney reported 311 members signed up for 1967.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures Thursday through Monday will average 4-6 degrees above normal. Representative normal highs and lows: Cleveland 51-33, Columbus 52-33, Cincinnati 55 - 37. Cooler Thursday and Friday, warmer Saturday and Sunday, cooler Monday. Rain most of the period will average .50-.75 inch.

Mill Creek Group Will Participate In 3-Day Retreat

Forty-two Senior High and Junior High students of the Mill Creek UP Church of Hookstown will leave for a three-day youth retreat at Seneca Hills, near Franklin, Thursday evening.

The retreat has been planned by the young people, with adult cooks and counselors whom they have selected also participating. The group will leave by bus at 6 p. m. from the church.

The leaders of the retreat have a decidedly "international flavor." The Bible Study leader is the Rev. Kenneth Bailey, who was born in Egypt while his parents were missionaries there. Himself a missionary to Egypt for over 10 years, Rev. Bailey is now reassigned to Lebanon and expects to leave for Lebanon with his family as soon as his visa is arranged.

He will lead the group in a study of the gospels, drawing upon his experience in village work in the Middle East and using many customs which have not been changed since Jesus lived in Palestine to illustrate the gospel story.

The Rev. Richard Foster will speak four times to the young people. He took a group of 25 young people from his church in Philadelphia to Europe last Summer and earlier had escorted a group to Mexico. He served in the armed forces in Korea and organized and taught Bible classes of Korean young people during his tour of duty. He has helped several Korean students to study in the United States.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Alexander Wilson, and his wife and family, went to the Sudan in 1951 and set up a printing press and did publication work for 10 years.

'Wrath' Of Residents

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When residents of suburban Whitehall banded together to oppose plans for an expressway through their community, they called themselves "WRATH." That's "Whitehall Residents Against The Highway."

The defensive setup of the Houston Oilers includes 300-pound Ernie Ladd, who is 6-feet-9, and 270-pound Pat Holmes.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I read a letter in your column from a mother who was worried about her soldier son. The mother had not heard from him in several weeks and she telephoned his girl friend to learn if she had heard anything.

My sister had a similar problem. Her oldest boy joined the Marines. She had not received a letter from him in more than three months. Although he was not in a foreign country she was terribly worried that perhaps he was ill or that he had had an accident. So she wrote to her congressman. The congressman responded as follows:

"Dear Mrs. ZM: Our office has contacted your son's commanding officer. We have been informed he was discharged four weeks ago."

What kind of lousy government is it that doesn't even let a mother know when her son is being discharged from the service? Please answer me in the newspaper. I want the whole world to see it. — THOROUGHLY DISGUSTED CITIZEN.

Dear Citizen: What kind of lousy son would be discharged from the service for four weeks and not let his mother know? Please answer me so I can print your reply in the newspaper. I'd like the whole world to see it.

Joke Thief

Dear Ann: My husband has requested that I write to you about something that has him so burned up his hand is not steady enough to hold a pen.

It so happens my husband is a very good speaker and is called on often to be the master of ceremonies at civic and fraternal affairs. A couple of months ago he was the main speaker at a small club dinner—quite private. He was in top form and told some extremely funny stories. Everyone said he was terrific.

Last night he was the featured speaker at an important dinner, one he had been planning on for many months. The man who introduced him had attended the small club dinner and apparently he had written down my husband's jokes because he used every one of them before my husband got up to speak.

It was a nightmare. My husband couldn't think of anything to say and he had no time to come up with new stories. He really was a horrible flop. Today he is depressed and furious.

What is your opinion of a person who would pull such a dirty trick? What can a creative person do to protect himself against this sort of dishonesty? — SYMPATHETIC WIFE.

Dear Wife: If I knew of a way to stop idea thieves I'd use it myself.

A writer is virtually helpless unless he can prove plagiarism, which is not easy. A speaker always can have some spare anecdotes up his sleeve — and he'd better have them for just such emergencies as you described.

Confidentially

TO A COUNSELOR WHO NEEDS COUNSELING: It doesn't necessarily follow that a person who has knowledge and training will apply it to his own life. (Witness the number of physicians who are grossly overweight, and smoke and drink excessively.)

I know of no substitute for self-acceptance and self-discipline. Discuss your true feelings with someone who can guide you. You were a human being before you were a counselor.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mill Creek Group Will Participate In 3-Day Retreat

Forty-two Senior High and Junior High students of the Mill Creek UP Church of Hookstown will leave for a three-day youth retreat at Seneca Hills, near Franklin, Thursday evening.

The retreat has been planned by the young people, with adult cooks and counselors whom they have selected also participating. The group will leave by bus at 6 p. m. from the church.

The leaders of the retreat have a decidedly "international flavor." The Bible Study leader is the Rev. Kenneth Bailey, who was born in Egypt while his parents were missionaries there. Himself a missionary to Egypt for over 10 years, Rev. Bailey is now reassigned to Lebanon and expects to leave for Lebanon with his family as soon as his visa is arranged.

He will lead the group in a study of the gospels, drawing upon his experience in village work in the Middle East and using many customs which have not been changed since Jesus lived in Palestine to illustrate the gospel story.

The Rev. Richard Foster will speak four times to the young people. He took a group of 25 young people from his church in Philadelphia to Europe last Summer and earlier had escorted a group to Mexico. He served in the armed forces in Korea and organized and taught Bible classes of Korean young people during his tour of duty. He has helped several Korean students to study in the United States.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Alexander Wilson, and his wife and family, went to the Sudan in 1951 and set up a printing press and did publication work for 10 years.

Voters In Pennsylvania Approve 2 Amendments

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pennsylvanians elected Republican Raymond P. Shafer their 104th governor early Wednesday with an avalanche of votes that cut sharply into Democrat Milton J. Shapp's big-city strongholds.

Shapp appeared just before 1 a.m. at his Philadelphia headquarters while trailing Shafer by nearly 200,000 votes with about 75 per cent of the state's 9,424 precincts counted.

"It doesn't look as if it's possible to overcome that lead," said Shapp, grinning bravely as his supporters cheered. "But we have made an impact on Pennsylvania thinking that will last."

The 49-year-old Shafer, ahead from the very start of the counting, thus became the first lieutenant governor ever to win election to the state's top post. He'll succeed Gov. William W. Scranton, barred by law from seeking a second successive term.

With 6,853 precincts in Shafer led Shapp 1,560,342 to 1,371,786. Candidates of the Constitutional and Socialist-Labor parties were out of sight.

Shapp, first Jew ever to be a candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, had counted on massive Democratic leads in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton and Erie—but they never materialized.

Shapp's running-mates, however, all went ahead at the midway mark, led by Genevieve Blatt, seeking her fourth term as secretary of internal affairs. Leonard Staisey, blind state senator from Allegheny County, ran ahead of Republican Raymond Broderick for lieutenant governor.

Miss Blatt was ahead of Republican John Tabor, in 6,117 precincts, 1,215,929 to 1,146,415.

The two Republican incumbents for state Superior Court—Harold Watkins and Theodore Spaulding—trailed Democrats Clinton Budd Palmer and Mrs. Juanita Kidd Stout.

Spaulding and Mrs. Stout are Negroes.

With 6,042 precincts counted, the votes for judge were: Palmer 1,195,925, Stout 1,158,683, Watkins 1,151,585 and Spaulding 1,131,916.

Shapp's loss could be measured mainly by his failure to score in Philadelphia where he came out with only a 110,000 edge. He had predicted a 225,000 majority in the state's biggest city—and he needed something like that to upset Shafer.

In Pittsburgh and Allegheny county, where Shapp predicted a 50,000-vote edge, his majority was running about half.

And in Erie County Shapp came out with a 5,000 lead, half of what he had predicted.

Meanwime, Shafer pummeled Shapp in the Philadelphia suburbs—leading in Bucks County by 15,000, Chester, 17,000 (9,000 with one-third of the vote in), Montgomery 55,000, Delaware 66,000. He also piled up big leads in Dauphin, Lancaster, Luzerne, York and Lehigh, and cut Democratic margins in Fayette and Northampton.

Some four million voters went to the polling places, or about 70 per cent of the total eligible.

Early returns showed favorable support for two proposed amendments to Pennsylvania's 92-year-old constitution—one to replace a section on corporations, the other to provide state-paid training for aldermen and justices of the peace who are not lawyers.

Besides the statewide candidates, voters elected 27 congressmen and the entire legislature—50 senators and 203 representatives.

Republicans also struggled to gain control of both houses of the legislature.

Lose One Congressional Seat

Pennsylvania Democrats Hold Edge In Congress

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Democrats lost one congressional seat to Republicans in Tuesday's balloting, but still retained political control of the Pennsylvania delegation by a 14-13 margin.

The one seat to revert to the GOP was in the 19th district where former congressman George Goodling won back the seat he lost to Democrat N. Neiman Craley two years ago while President Johnson was sweeping the state.

Goodling, the only congressman ever to be re-elected to consecutive terms in his fickle district, grabbed a 3,000 lead in the early unofficial returns and held on throughout the night.

In the other district, the 19th Rep. Joseph P. Vigorito was re-elected to his second term by some 15,700 votes over the Republican he defeated two years ago, former congressman James D. Weaver.

The size of Vigorito's margin over the Erie doctor was surprising. In their first tussle, Vigorito won by only 2,800 while Johnson was taking the district by 63,000 votes.

The remaining 25 seats stayed in the hands of the party that controlled them, although the Democrats were hard pressed in two districts.

They were the 4th in Philadelphia and the 15th of Northampton, Monroe and most of Lehigh counties.

In the 4th, Joshua Eilberg, the present majority leader of the State House of Representatives, defeated Philadelphia attorney Robert B. Cohen by 4,200 in unofficial returns. Eilberg had trailed by as much as 2,000 votes during one point in the early returns.

This race was expected to be the closest of the Philadelphia contests and it was.

In the other tight race, Democratic incumbent Fred B. Rooney staved off a strong challenge by Lehigh County District Attorney George J. Joseph to win his third term. With all but 23 of 286 precincts in, Rooney was leading in the unofficial count, 75,532 to 69,404.

In the other races, 11 Democrats and nine Republicans won by substantial margins while three newcomers, in addition to Eilberg, were elected to their first terms by sizable majorities.

The biggest winners among the incumbents were Republican Reps. Richard S. Schweiker, once mentioned high among prospective GOP gubernatorial candidates, in the 13th district, and Joseph M. McDade in the 10th.

Schweiker, representing most of Republican Montgomery County, won a fourth term by more than 66,200 votes over Edward S. Searle in a rematch of 1964. Two years ago, his margin was 43,000 in a district that has never sent a Democrat to Congress.

McDade, a strong prospect to join the GOP statewide gubernatorial ticket following the death of Walter Alessandroni, then the candidate for lieutenant governor, easily trounced Scranton City Council President Neil Trama by 53,900 votes in the strongly Republican 10th.

Voters In Pennsylvania Approve 2 Amendments

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pennsylvanians elected Republican Raymond P. Shafer their 104th governor early Wednesday with an avalanche of votes that cut sharply into Democrat Milton J. Shapp's big-city strongholds.

Shapp appeared just before 1 a.m. at his Philadelphia headquarters while trailing Shafer by nearly 200,000 votes with about 75 per cent of the state's 9,424 precincts counted.

"It doesn't look as if it's possible to overcome that lead," said Shapp, grinning bravely as his supporters cheered. "But we have made an impact on Pennsylvania thinking that will last."

The 49-year-old Shafer, ahead from the very start of the counting, thus became the first lieutenant governor ever to win election to the state's top post. He'll succeed Gov. William W. Scranton, barred by law from seeking a second successive term.

With 6,853 precincts in Shafer led Shapp 1,560,342 to 1,371,786. Candidates of the Constitutional and Socialist-Labor parties were out of sight.

Shapp, first Jew ever to be a candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, had counted on massive Democratic leads in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton and Erie—but they never materialized.

Shapp's running-mates, however, all went ahead at the midway mark, led by Genevieve Blatt, seeking her fourth term as secretary of internal affairs. Leonard Staisey, blind state senator from Allegheny County, ran ahead of Republican Raymond Broderick for lieutenant governor.

With 6,117 precincts in Staisey had 1,189,307 to 1,168,217 for Broderick.

The two Republican incumbents for state Superior Court—Harold Watkins and Theodore Spaulding—trailed Democrats Clinton Budd Palmer and Mrs. Juanita Kidd Stout.

Spaulding and Mrs. Stout are Negroes.

With 6,042 precincts counted, the votes for judge were: Palmer 1,195,925, Stout 1,158,683, Watkins 1,151,585 and Spaulding 1,131,916.

Not all was going bad for the Republicans, however.

Shapp's loss could be measured mainly by his failure to score in Philadelphia where he came out with only a 110,000 edge. He had predicted a 225,000 majority in the state's biggest city—and he needed something like that to upset Shafer.

Shapp and Shafer came out almost even in Lackawanna County, which includes Scranton. Here Democrats had hoped for a 20,000-vote edge.

In Pittsburgh and Allegheny county, where Shapp predicted a 50,000-vote edge, his majority was running about half.

And in Erie County Shapp came out with a 5,000 lead, half of what he had predicted.

Meanwime, Shafer pummeled Shapp in the Philadelphia suburbs—leading in Bucks County by 15,000, Chester, 17,000 (9,000 with one-third of the vote in), Montgomery 55,000, Delaware 66,000. He also piled up big leads in Dauphin, Lancaster, Luzerne, York and Lehigh, and cut Democratic margins in Fayette and Northampton.

Some four million voters went to the polling places, or about 70 per cent of the total eligible.

Early returns showed favorable support for two proposed amendments to Pennsylvania's 92-year-old constitution—one to replace a section on corporations, the other to provide state-paid training for aldermen and justices of the peace who are not lawyers.

Besides the statewide candidates, voters elected 27 congressmen and the entire legislature—50 senators and 203 representatives.

Republicans also struggled to gain control of both houses of the legislature.

Lose One Congressional Seat

Pennsylvania Democrats Hold Edge In Congress

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Democrats lost one congressional seat to Republicans in Tuesday's balloting, but still retained political control of the Pennsylvania delegation by a 14-13 margin.

The one seat to revert to the GOP was in the 19th district where former congressman George Goodling won back the seat he lost to Democrat N. Neiman Craley two years ago while President Johnson was sweeping the state.

Goodling, the only congressman ever to be re-elected to consecutive terms in his fickle district, grabbed a 3,000 lead in the early unofficial returns and held on throughout the night.

Goodling's victory gave the Republicans a split in their attempt to regain the two seats they lost in the Goldwater debacle of 1964.

In the other district, the 19th Rep. Joseph P. Vigorito was re-elected to his second term by some 15,700 votes over the Republican he defeated two years ago, former congressman James D. Weaver.

The size of Vigorito's margin over the Erie doctor was surprising. In their first tussle, Vigorito won by only 2,800 while Johnson was taking the district by 63,000 votes.

The remaining 25 seats stayed in the hands of the party that controlled them, although the Democrats were hard pressed in two districts.

They were the 4th in Philadelphia and the 15th of Northampton, Monroe and most of Lehigh counties.

In the 4th, Joshua Eilberg, the present majority leader of the State House of Representatives, defeated Philadelphia attorney Robert B. Cohen by 4,200 in unofficial returns. Eilberg had trailed by as much as 2,000 votes during one point in the early returns.

Eilberg thus succeeds Herman Toll, a nine-term congressman who retired this year because of failing health.

This race was expected to be the closest of the Philadelphia contests and it was.

In the other tight race, Democratic incumbent Fred B. Rooney staved off a strong challenge by Lehigh County District Attorney George J. Joseph to win his third term. With all but 23 of 286 precincts in, Rooney was leading in the unofficial count, 75,532 to 69,404.

In the other races, 11 Democrats and nine Republicans won by substantial margins while three newcomers, in addition to Eilberg, were elected to their first terms by sizable majorities.

The biggest winners among the incumbents were Republican Reps. Richard S. Schweiker, once mentioned high among prospective GOP gubernatorial candidates, in the 13th district, and Joseph M. McDade in the 10th.

Schweiker, representing most of Republican Montgomery County, won a fourth term by more than 66,200 votes over Edward S. Searle in a rematch of 1964. Two years ago, his margin was 43,000 in a district that has never sent a Democrat to Congress.

McDade, a strong prospect to join the GOP statewide gubernatorial ticket following the death of Walter Alessandroni, then the candidate for lieutenant governor, easily trounced Scranton City Council President Neil Trama by 53,900 votes in the strongly Republican 10th.

Junior Editors Quiz on "BUCKEYE STATE"

QUESTION: How did the state of Ohio gets its name?

ANSWER: Think of the Indians in our picture as members of the Iroquois group, living in the days before there was a United States. They have come to the banks of a majestic river, the size of which impresses them so much that they are repeating the Iroquois word ohio, which meant something big. This is the river which winds across the southern boundary of the state of Ohio (see map). Explorers and settlers used the Indian word. Ohio really is something big, in a lot of different ways. Its rich soil makes it one of our most important states in dairying, raising hogs and beef cattle as well as poultry and sheep; field crops and fruits and vegetables are also extensively grown. In industry too, Ohio is really outstanding. The state produces much iron and steel, and is a leader in many kinds of manufacturing—as an example, Akron, Ohio, produces about half of all automobile tires used in the United States.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Check a map to see where the Ohio River comes from, and where it goes.

★ ★ ★

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 9, the 313th day of 1966. There are 52 days left in the year.

On this date in 1918, Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated and the country was proclaimed a republic.

One this date:

In 1940, Neville Chamberlain, British prime minister who negotiated the Munich pact, died.

In 1943, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was created.

One year ago — A massive power failure blacked out parts of eight Northeastern states and two provinces in southeastern Canada. New York City was caught at rush hour and millions of New Yorkers were without electricity for some 10 hours.

In industry too, Ohio is really outstanding. The state produces much iron and steel, and is a leader in many kinds of manufacturing—as an example, Akron, Ohio, produces about half of all automobile tires used in the United States.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 9, the 313th day of 1966. There are 52 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated and the country was proclaimed a republic.

On this date:

In 1935, a meeting was held in Washington to organize the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

In 1940, Neville Chamberlain, British prime minister who negotiated the Munich pact, died.

In 1943, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was created.

Ten years ago — Congressional leaders of both parties predicted Democrats and Republicans would work together in the newly elected Democratic-controlled Congress.

One year ago — A massive power failure blacked out parts of eight Northeastern states and two provinces in southeastern Canada. New York City was caught at rush hour and millions of New Yorkers were without electricity for some 10 hours.

Running For Public Office

Popular Form Of Exercise

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Running for public office has become one of the most popular forms of exercise in America.

But thousands of candidates who woke up today were trying to figure whether it was really better to have run and lost, than never to have run at all.

Some of the losers suffered from head colds caught by kissing sniffling babies. Some had talked themselves hoarse. Some had spent themselves to the edge of bankruptcy or beyond in fruitless wooing of a fickle electorate.

Whether they ran for dogcatcher or senator, however, the thing that probably annoyed them most was having to congratulate the man who beat them.

The great game of politics is a winner-take-all game. To the victor belongs the spoils. All the loser usually gets in most races is a one-way ticket to limbo. His only souvenirs are a flattened wallet and a few holes in his thumb from tacking up his campaign placards on telephone poles and backyard barns.

He does it because it is part of the game. Politics, as practiced in the United States, is as ceremonial as tea drinking in Japan. One of its oldest rituals is the ritual of the graceful loser.

Everyone expects him to be a good sport about it all, let bygones be bygones, smile manfully and issue some unctuous statement such as:

"The people have spoken. I congratulate my opponent on his splendid triumph. It is now time to close ranks and march confidently together into a great future."

Nonsense, piffle and banana oil. That kind of tired pap fools nobody and bores everybody.

Political campaigns would be more interesting if we could start a new tradition — the tradition of the sorehead loser, the guy who is counted out with his mouth full of sour grapes.

"I said during the campaign that my opponent was an underhanded bum, and the only difference in him that I can see now is that he's a lucky bum. As for the people who voted for him, they can't be much better.

"At this time it is customary for a candidate to thank all his supporters who labored so long and earnestly in his behalf. Frankly, I don't think I had any. Most of my fair weather friends must have gone fishing on election day, and it appears that all the creeps who were supposed to be working for me spent their time in ginmills with my so-called campaign manager, whoever he was.

"My opponent should give them all jobs. He couldn't have won without them.

"I have been asked to say what my future plans are. My plans are first to stop by my friendly neighborhood psychiatrist and get my head examined for ever deciding to run for a public office in the first place. After that I plan to go home, kick my dog, and slap the wife and kids around until I feel better.

"And now I have one final word for you all —BAH!"

Wouldn't you like to hear a speech like that from a defeated candidate? But, reluctantly, you'd have to come to the conclusion that it probably was a good thing he lost.

No guy that honest really belongs in politics.

Avoid Last-Minute Pressure

The elusive quality termed will power has been defined as your strongest desire of the moment. The secret of success in slimming is to plan your strategy so as to avoid last-minute pressure. A young mother in her 20's writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"Help — I'm headed for 200 pounds! I long to reduce, but I can't seem to muster the will power to carry me over the temptation when confronted with delicious food. I think, 'I'll diet tomorrow.' Tomorrow brings more of the same. How can I start and stay on the road to healthy, happy weight?"

ALL THOSE in the same frustrating dilemma, join us. By taking forethought you can remove decision - making from the tug - of - will struggle with recurrent temptation. The essence of the plan is to use your will to get what you want. Be resolute about it and you can develop a built-in-slimming system.

If you honestly want to get your will working for you, use this technique: Give purposeful forethought to the way you want to react when confronted with the temptation of delicious food —with second helpings, rich desserts, and eating at odd hours.

Decide in advance how you really wish to carry through in a given situation, and picture yourself doing so triumphantly. In short, set your mind to purposeful action. This presetting will go into effect when you need it.

Advance decision making is just the opposite of leaving the decision to a momentary choice, for when you do that you must use your will as a brake.

The will doesn't work that way. Never associate will power with self - denial or trying not to do something—that is negative. Will power is based on positive values and equates with a goal.

EXPERIMENT and judge for yourself. At the time when your mind is alert and aware, mentally create a plan of action. Actually visualize yourself performing according to desired plan. Make this an adventure in turning your attention to picturing your goal. See yourself in control when faced with temptation, and you will be.

At the time when you are not under the pressure of temptation, bid your mind to act in accordance with your heart's desire. By making an advance decision you build a connection between the mental resolve and the act of putting the decision into action.

You will find this mature way of taking charge of your life to be unexpectedly rewarding. Think constructively on what you want, picture it and you lead your will in that direction.
